INELIGIBLE TO BARGAIN

Union Is Ruled Red-Infiltrated By U.S. Board

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Subversive Activities Control Board ruled Friday that the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers was a Communist - infiltrated organization.

The board's action makes the union ineligible to bargain for or represent employes under the National Labor Relations Act.

The board issued a final order adopting the findings of Francis A. Cherry, a board member who held hearings on the case.

The action was taken under the 1950 Internal Security Act, amended by the Communist Control Act of 1954. It left the union's last recourse an appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The board acts as a district court in such cases.

REDS IN CONTROL

Cherry found "on the basis of the entire record, it is concluded that (the union) is substantially directed, dominated or controlled by individuals who are (or have been) actively engaged in giving support to the Communist party of the United States."

Cherry said in one of 238 separate findings, adopted by the full board, that "the aid and support flowing to the Communist party (U.S.A.) from (the union) and its controlling leadership has been real, substantial and significant."

The report said the "Communist party has acquired and will continue to have a dependable foothold in the labor movement in the United States," through the union.

The action against the union, which has its headquarters at Denver, was started July 28, 1955, by the Justice Department. The department at that time filed a petition with the board charging the union was Communist - infiltrated, without knowledge of most of its members.

When the board determines that a labor organization is Communist infiltrated, the union loses its eligibility to represent any employe or bargaining unit, or to exercise any other privilege provided by the National Labor Relations Act.

West Allies Differ Over U.S. Policy

Unified Position Taken, However, On Berlin Stand

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The Atlantic allies agreed Friday to continue negotiations with the Soviet Union on Berlin but served notice they would not be lulled into a dangerous sleep by Soviet soft talk on the Communist-encircled city.

Having approved a unified posture toward the Soviet Union, however, the foreign and defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization witnessed these sharp differences among themselves:

—The Netherlands criticized U.S. efforts to settle the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over Dutch-ruled West New Guinea, calling Washington's policy vacillating, informants said.

—The Italian delegation withdrew support of a broadening NATO nuclear policy after Italy's failure to elect a president in renewed parliamentary balloting Friday. Italy had helped frame the so-called nuclear guidelines policy on tactical use of weapons now primarily in U.S. hands.

—The French made no secret of their dislike of nuclear policy proposals coming up Saturday at the NATO meeting.

None of the ministers voiced opposition to continuing the talks with the Soviet Union but almost everyone coupled his approval with a warning to keep up the al-

U.N. Deals Rebuff To Pakistan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council Friday night adjourned debate over Kashmir indefinitely without taking any of the steps Pakistan had suggested to help settle its quarrel with India over that divided state.

The council president for May, Tingfu F. Tsiang of Nationalist China, obtained agreement to such an adjournment after remarking that council members generally had asked time for study, consultation and reflection on the matter.

The result was a victory for Indian Defense Minister V. K. Menon, who wanted the 11-nation council to do nothing, and a defeat for Pakistani Delegate Sir Zafrulla Khan, who wanted it to act.

Sir Patrick Dean of Britain, shortly before the council adjourned, welcomed the promises of both men that their governments would not use force to change the situation in Kashmir. It is split along a U.N. cease-fire line set up to halt a 1947-48 war there between India and Pakistan.

Dean and Francis T. P. Plimpton of the United States agreed with Pakistan that a dispute existed over Kashmir and that the council had an obligation to promote a settlement of it.

But neither supported any of Zafrulla Khan's four suggestions for action now to promote a settlement.

Missile Fired 5,000 Miles

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—The Air Force successfully fired a Titan 1 intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) 5,000 miles downrange Friday to a target area near Wake Island.

The firing of the huge weapon, marking the 100th missile shot from this Pacific missile range base, was described as "a good one" by an Air Force spokesman. He said it made a "successful flight" and landed in the impact area at sea, but would not disclose how close its dummy warhead came to a bull's eye.

The Titan 1 has a distance range of at least 6,325 statute miles.

LABOR TO HEIRS

Womack To Offer Wide Legislation

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 11th and final in a series of articles pertaining to legislation sponsored by area solons in the 1962 session.

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

Rep. Lantz Womack of Winnsboro plans to offer a wide field of legislation in the coming session, ranging from labor strikes to a widow's right to claim her deceased husband's property.

At nearby St. Joseph, Sen. Howard Jones, a member of the Little Hoover Commission, will have his hands full with the commission's sweeping proposals.

While Womack was outlining his proposed bills, Jones said he would have legislation too, but explained that he will announce the details when work on the bills is completed.

Meantime, the Franklin Parish lawmaker said he will introduce a bill to amend what he calls the forced heirship laws to permit a widow to become the legal owner of her deceased husband's home at least.

"I think a widow should be given a clear title to their home at least," Womack said. "But this would be an amendment to the present Civil Code and I hope to have legislation in accordance with the wishes of the LSU Law Institute."

At present widows do not have clear titles to their late husband's property and possessions.

Womack, by request, also will offer a bill to increase the alamony tax limit for municipalities from seven to 10 mills carrying with it a constitutional amendment to the insurance laws be approved by the people.

In addition, he will offer an amendment to the i surance laws to allow a maximum of $20,000

Fourth U.S. Atomic Test Blast Fired

Device Exploded In Air Following Drop By Plane

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States Friday set off the fourth nuclear explosion in its 10-day old Pacific test series, an "intermediate yield" weapon that probably equalled the power of about 100,00 tons of TNT.

As in all previous tests, the device was dropped from an airplane and exploded in the atmosphere near British-controlled Christmas Island. It was the third Pacific shot with an explosive force of more than 20,000 tons of TNT but less than one million tons.

SOVIETS MAY TEST

The test was announced as administration officials said evidence available to them indicated that Russia may begin a new series of massive tests within the next few days. They said all available intelligence showed the new series was ready.

This could account for the relatively mild protests from Soviet officials against the U.S. tests. While some Communist publications have denounced the Pacific series in strong terms, official reaction from Moscow has been much calmer.

All the American tests to date appear to have involved attempts to pack more punch into intercontinental missile warheads.

Last Wednesday the task force exploded a device believed equal to the power of one to five million tons of TNT. It could have been the actual warhead for the latest model ICBM's.

The other three shots have been in the 20,000 to 999,000 ton TNT class. The tests, known as Operation Dominic, started April 25.

Weather permitting, the tests are expected to continue at the rate of several a week during the early summer months.

As for the expected Soviet series, American officials said evidence at hand indicates the Russians are only waiting for what they consider the best time, from the weather and political standpoints.

Lock Site Report Is Requested

WASHINGTON — Three Louisiana lawmakers Friday called on the chief of U. S. Army Engineers to submit a complete engineering report on the projected Jonesville lock of the Ouachita River project.

The lock, whose location has aroused continued controversy, would be a key structure of the proposed nine-foot barge channel in the Ouachita River. The lock would be located near the channel's connection with the Red River.

A statement released by Sen. Russell B. Long said that he, Sen. Allen J .Ellender and Rep. Otto Passman have asked for a full study of the lock so that construction can be started as soon as possible.

Long said that "since the state has not seen fit to designate a location for the lock. I think it only proper that the location should be designated from an engineering standpoint and that we

Booby-Trap Exploded By Secret Army

One Person Dies, Several Hurt In New Terror Act

ALGIERS (AP) — A booby-trapped gasoline tank truck hurtled driverless toward the native quarter Friday and exploded into a searing fireball short of its mark — a crowded Moslem hillside.

One person was killed and several others were injured in the latest European Secret Army Organization trick to incite Moslem tempers to civil warfare.

SAVED BY FLAW

Officials believe many Moslem men, women and children would have perished but for a flaw in the truck's booby-trap mechanism.

A few more yards and the tractor with the loaded tank trailer would have thundered into the tightly packed Moslem dwelling places.

As it was, the explosion sent a ball of flame rolling over houses, cars and trees along a sparsely people boulevard.

Three days ago an abandoned car loaded with 40 pounds of explosives and equipped with a timing device exploded in a dockside crowd of 1,500 Moslems, killing 62 and injuring more than 100.

That incident almost set off a Moslem mob into action.

The blast of the gasoline tanker was one of the most spectacular attacks by the secret army, which hopes to bait the Moslems into vengeful violence that might destroy independence for Algeria.

It succeeded in bringing crowds of infuriated Moslems into the streets, where they stoned a bus and European cars.

A bicycle chain holding the steering wheel of the tank truck on course was a clue to the terrorist plot. Police said the terrorists attempted to send gasoline-fed flames downhill into the quarter where 80,000 Moslems live.

The plan failed because the bomb went off just as the truck bounced over the sidewalk on a curve, blew its tires and unhitched the trailer, bringing the entire

Parish School Tax Election Will Be Today

Ouachita Parish voters will decide today on the retention of a five - mill operation and maintenance tax for the parish school system.

Parish School Superintendent W. W. Ward declared that "we must have this tax if our schools are to continue the services which they are now providing" for the parish's children.

Polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. The City of Monroe is not included in the election.

Ward noted that revenue from the levy, which has been in effect about 30 years, "has not kept pace during recent years with the expenditures which it finances."

The levy pays for utilities, janitorial salaries, and extra salaries for administrators as well as aiding funds for special education of the mentally retarded and "homebound teaching" of physically restricted children.

Opposition to "any form of sales tax" and confidence that Louisiana's financial worries will be solved were the views expressed by state senators and representatives attending the third Legislators' Day Friday at Northeast Louisiana State College.

The event, with legislators from the state's fourth, fifth and eighth congressional districts as special guests, was sponsored by the college and the Monroe and West Monroe Chambers of Commerce.

While no formal program was on the agenda, legislators expressed their views on the state's problems in interviews with the Morning World.

With five representatives and one senator representing a sampling of opinion, all expressed the belief that a sales tax increase will not be introduced during the legislative session which opens May 14.

Most of them voiced strong opposition to a sales tax increase, emphasizing that they would "vote against one if it comes up."

A hike in the state sales tax has been among the speculations as a possibility for relieving the state's financial difficulties. State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell has said that the deficit will amount to $75 - million by the end of the fiscal year.

Some of them expressed confidence that "our legislative budget committee will come up with a solution to the problem." And all of them voiced the belief that "the problem will be solved" during the session of the legislature.

JFK Says State's Future Is Bright

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

NEW ORLEANS — President John F. Kennedy told Louisiana to prepare for a period of space-age development Friday on a 2½ hour whirlwind visit to New Orleans where he was cheered without incident by over 100,000 spectators.

The President, deeply sun - tanned in a navy blue striped suit, beamed to a warm reception as the Crescent City rolled out the red carpet for Louisiana's first Presidential visit since 1953.

Kennedy waved from a speeding motorcade — along streets lined with waving crowds —from the New Orleans International Airport to dedicate the new $12 ½ - million Nashville Avenue wharf.

OUTLINES PROGRAM

There the President outlined his New Frontier of foreign trade, warning America to "trade or fade," strongly calling for the passage of the trade expansion act now in Congress.

He contended that Louisiana and four neighboring states stand to gain more from his trade expansion program.

Woman Fined For Going To Church Service

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Mrs. Mary Ellen Benson said Friday she wanted to find "someone who cares" about her right to worship instead of attend union meetings on Sunday mornings.

"I thought the Constitution gave us the right of freedom of worship," she said. "I just wish I could find someone who cares . . . who is willing to stand up and be counted in this."

Mrs. Benson paid $10.00 in county court Thursday for going to church instead of union meetings.

In a pre-trial hearing, Judge Robert Miech decreed she must pay a $5 fine to the union and $5.40 in court costs for admittedly not complying with union by-laws that provided any member that misses three of five meetings be fined.

The union brought suit against Mrs. Benson when she

REFUSE TO HEAR TALK

Two State Solons Boycott Kennedy

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Two strong pro-segregation legislators, Reps. Wellborn Jack and Ford Stinson, Friday refused to hear President Kennedy deliver his speech on foreign trade.

Jack, of Caddo Parish, and Stinson, of Bossier Parish, had been invited to sit in the reserved section at the Nashville Avenue wharf where the President spoke.

In his letter of rejection, Jack blasted Kennedy and Judge J. Skelly Wright of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, who until recently was a U. S. district judge here.

"President Kennedy is doing all he can to integrate the black and white races," Jack said, "and I am doing all I can to keep them from being integrated which in my opinion will be for the best of both races."

Jack said Kennedy's appointment of Judge Wright to the District of Columbia appeals court was "a slap in the face to every citizen of Louisiana because Judge Wright betrayed the state of Louisiana."

While a district judge, Wright ordered the integration of New Orleans public schools from the first through the sixth grades.

Stinson's letter of rejection also criticized Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

"In view of the present school situation in Orleans Parish and throughout the nation as the result of the stupid and irresponsible position and action taken by the President, his brother, Bobby, and the traitor Skelly Wright forcing on our people the curse of integration and ultimate destruction of our separate races," Stinson said, "it is with pleasure that I decline the invitation to attend the ceremonies."

Communists Are Blamed For Uprising

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A 400-man marine garrison and 50 military policemen revolted in coastal Carupano Friday and passed out arms to Communist and leftist supporters to battle loyalist forces moving in from three directions.

A government source said a loyalist force pushed into the city after nightfall and that fighting had broken out. The extent of it was not reported here. A radio broadcast from the nearby city of Cumana said there were many casualties.

TROOPS MOVING

Officials at Miraflores presidential palace in Caracas said earlier reports that loyalist forces had crushed the revolt were premature.

But, they said, army and marine forces were moving in on Carupano—about 300 miles east of Caracas. Naval units were reported moving in from the sea and an air force plane had bombed the airstrip, cutting off aid to the rebels by air.

Palace officials said the revolt was part of a movement by the Communist party and other leftists to overthrow the government of President Romulo Betancourt, a backer of the U.S. Alliance for Progress program. He has taken a strong stand against the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

A presidential palace source said the air force abandoned plans to bomb the rebels in the barracks areas because they had taken up positions in a midcity high school. He said the marines were passing out arms to Communists and to

Civilians To Replace GIs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon was reported considering Friday reversing part of last fall's Berlin crisis buildup by bringing home about 40,000 noncombat troops from Europe and hiring civilians in their jobs.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told the Senate of the proposal and urged strongly that it be carried out. He said it would help stem the flow of dollars overseas and would improve the combat ratio of America's armed forces.

Stennis said he had been informed that of 240,000 Army troops in Europe only about 70,000 are in the five divisions there. Smaller combat units also are there, he added, but the exact breakdown of fighting and support forces is secret.

Last fall during the Berlin buildup, the Army made a special effort to bring the 7th Army up to its full strength of nearly 180,000 men and to have military support units take over tasks that civilians were performing. This was reported to have involved sending about 40,000 noncombat troops to Europe.

Pentagon sources said the Army can be expected to oppose the move, feeling that these military men are needed especially in view of requirements raised by new weapons and supermechanization of the European forces.

Communists Are Blamed For Uprising

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A 400-man marine garrison and 50 military policemen revolted in coastal Carupano Friday and passed out arms to Communist and leftist supporters to battle loyalist forces moving in from three directions.

A government source said a loyalist force pushed into the city after nightfall and that fighting had broken out. The extent of it was not reported here. A radio broadcast from the nearby city of Cumana said there were many casualties.

TROOPS MOVING

Officials at Miraflores presidential palace in Caracas said earlier reports that loyalist forces had crushed the revolt were premature.

But, they said, army and marine forces were moving in on Carupano—about 300 miles east of Caracas. Naval units were reported moving in from the sea and an air force plane had bombed the airstrip, cutting off aid to the rebels by air.

Palace officials said the revolt was part of a movement by the Communist party and other leftists to overthrow the government of President Romulo Betancourt, a backer of the U.S. Alliance for Progress program. He has taken a strong stand against the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

A presidential palace source said the air force abandoned plans to bomb the rebels in the barracks areas because they had taken up positions in a midcity high school. He said the marines were passing out arms to Communists and to

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon was reported considering Friday reversing part of last fall's Berlin crisis buildup by bringing home about 40,000 noncombat troops from Europe and hiring civilians in their jobs.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told the Senate of the proposal and urged strongly that it be carried out. He said it would help stem the flow of dollars overseas and would improve the combat ratio of America's armed forces.

Stennis said he had been informed that of 240,000 Army troops in Europe only about 70,000 are in the five divisions there. Smaller combat units also are there, he added, but the exact breakdown of fighting and support forces is secret.

Last fall during the Berlin buildup, the Army made a special effort to bring the 7th Army up to its full strength of nearly 180,000 men and to have military support units take over tasks that civilians were performing. This was reported to have involved sending about 40,000 noncombat troops to Europe.

Pentagon sources said the Army can be expected to oppose the move, feeling that these military men are needed especially in view of requirements raised by new weapons and supermechanization of the European forces.

U.N. Deals Rebuff To Pakistan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council Friday night adjourned debate over Kashmir indefinitely without taking any of the steps Pakistan had suggested to help settle its quarrel with India over that divided state.

The council president for May, Tingfu F. Tsiang of Nationalist China, obtained agreement to such an adjournment after remarking that council members generally had asked time for study, consultation and reflection on the matter.

The result was a victory for Indian Defense Minister V. K. Menon, who wanted the 11-nation council to do nothing, and a defeat for Pakistani Delegate Sir Zafrulla Khan, who wanted it to act.

Sir Patrick Dean of Britain, shortly before the council adjourned, welcomed the promises of both men that their governments would not use force to change the situation in Kashmir. It is split along a U.N. cease-fire line set up to halt a 1947-48 war there between India and Pakistan.

Dean and Francis T. P. Plimpton of the United States agreed with Pakistan that a dispute existed over Kashmir and that the council had an obligation to promote a settlement of it.

But neither supported any of Zafrulla Khan's four suggestions for action now to promote a settlement.

LABOR TO HEIRS

Womack To Offer Wide Legislation

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 11th and final in a series of articles pertaining to legislation sponsored by area solons in the 1962 session.

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

Rep. Lantz Womack of Winnsboro plans to offer a wide field of legislation in the coming session, ranging from labor strikes to a widow's right to claim her deceased husband's property.

At nearby St. Joseph, Sen. Howard Jones, a member of the Little Hoover Commission, will have his hands full with the commission's sweeping proposals.

While Womack was outlining his proposed bills, Jones said he would have legislation too, but explained that he will announce the details when work on the bills is completed.

Meantime, the Franklin Parish lawmaker said he will introduce a bill to amend what he calls the forced heirship laws to permit a widow to become the legal owner of her deceased husband's home at least.

"I think a widow should be given a clear title to their home at least," Womack said. "But this would be an amendment to the present Civil Code and I hope to have legislation in accordance with the wishes of the LSU Law Institute."

At present widows do not have clear titles to their late husband's property and possessions.

Womack, by request, also will offer a bill to increase the alamony tax limit for municipalities from seven to 10 mills carrying with it a constitutional amendment to the insurance laws be approved by the people.

In addition, he will offer an amendment to the i surance laws to allow a maximum of $20,000

Parish School Tax Election Will Be Today

Ouachita Parish voters will decide today on the retention of a five - mill operation and maintenance tax for the parish school system.

Parish School Superintendent W. W. Ward declared that "we must have this tax if our schools are to continue the services which they are now providing" for the parish's children.

Polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. The City of Monroe is not included in the election.

Ward noted that revenue from the levy, which has been in effect about 30 years, "has not kept pace during recent years with the expenditures which it finances."

The levy pays for utilities, janitorial salaries, and extra salaries for administrators as well as aiding funds for special education of the mentally retarded and "homebound teaching" of physically restricted children.

REFUSE TO HEAR TALK

Two State Solons Boycott Kennedy

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Two strong pro-segregation legislators, Reps. Wellborn Jack and Ford Stinson, Friday refused to hear President Kennedy deliver his speech on foreign trade.

Jack, of Caddo Parish, and Stinson, of Bossier Parish, had been invited to sit in the reserved section at the Nashville Avenue wharf where the President spoke.

In his letter of rejection, Jack blasted Kennedy and Judge J. Skelly Wright of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, who until recently was a U. S. district judge here.

"President Kennedy is doing all he can to integrate the black and white races," Jack said, "and I am doing all I can to keep them from being integrated which in my opinion will be for the best of both races."

Jack said Kennedy's appointment of Judge Wright to the District of Columbia appeals court was "a slap in the face to every citizen of Louisiana because Judge Wright betrayed the state of Louisiana."

While a district judge, Wright ordered the integration of New Orleans public schools from the first through the sixth grades.

Stinson's letter of rejection also criticized Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

"In view of the present school situation in Orleans Parish and throughout the nation as the result of the stupid and irresponsible position and action taken by the President, his brother, Bobby, and the traitor Skelly Wright forcing on our people the curse of integration and ultimate destruction of our separate races," Stinson said, "it is with pleasure that I decline the invitation to attend the ceremonies."

Missile Fired 5,000 Miles

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—The Air Force successfully fired a Titan 1 intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) 5,000 miles downrange Friday to a target area near Wake Island.

The firing of the huge weapon, marking the 100th missile shot from this Pacific missile range base, was described as "a good one" by an Air Force spokesman. He said it made a "successful flight" and landed in the impact area at sea, but would not disclose how close its dummy warhead came to a bull's eye.

The Titan 1 has a distance range of at least 6,325 statute miles.

nedy said, "the space - age will bring far - reaching consequences along the Gulf, from Florida on to Louisiana and Texas.

"I want to emphasize how important it is for this city and state to prepare for a period of technological development," he declared. "This opportunity is being given this section of the country."

Kennedy said the federal government will spend "hundreds of millions and billions" of dollars in space development within the next 10 years.

"This can mean more to this region and this city than any event in history in the last 100 years," he said.

The President arrived at about 9:30 a.m. on a blue - nosed Boeing 707 from Washington with the entire Louisiana Congressional delegation and Ambassador DeLesseps S. Morrison aboard.

Because of recent integration developments in New Orleans, city officials here had feared that the President's visit could mean trouble.

But the only anti - Kennedy act was a sign posted on the lawn of a Tulane Fraternity house that read —"Property Of U. S. Steel, Hands Off."

It was a warm, bright day in New Orleans with the temperature in the 80's and Kennedy rode in a Cadillac convertible with Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and Mayor Victor Schiro.

Once enroute to the wharf a motorcycle backfired, bringing six Secret Service agents springing from their auto behind the President.

A group of what appeared to be Cuban refuges waved signs saying," Wake Up, America Cuba Awaits."

Twice the President bolted away from the agents to walk with his hat in hand into a crowd of children, but in the main the Secret Service and FBI kept Kennedy under tight security measures.

In contrast to the anticipated trouble, the President received ringing ovations after two addresses. At city hall, Schiro introduced him to Archbishop Joseph Rummell, who recently ordered the Catholic Schools to integrate here next fall.

Officials standing close by said they exchanged greetings —with the archbishop saying to the President, "We're certainly glad to have you in our city, Mr. President.

Morrison likewise received ovations, but Gov. Davis and Schiro were booed loudly when introduced to the crowds. A crowd estimated by police at about 15,000 booed when the governor was introduced before the President.

Later, when Davis was introduced again, he received a round of applause with scattered hoots. Schiro ignored the booing of a group of Negro high school students at city hall.

Kennedy, speaking at the wharf dedication took the occasion to endorse his House whip, Congressman Hale Boggs of New Orleans, who is standing for re-election.

He (Boggs) speaks with a voice of vigor for this state and the United States," the President stated. He introduced each member of the Congressional delegation.

At city hall, where thousands jammed into the government square, Kennedy said, "You are going to need the best schools, the best colleges, the best scientists, the best engineers and the best citizens that a free democracy has ever had."

He was speaking to a crowd composed of a majority of school children.

"The brightest future lies before those who work to grapple with the future, who are aware that change is coming," Kennedy said.

He was interrupted several times during his address with applause and cheers from the crowd.

"I urge you to join with all of us to move this country forward in this decade," the President said.

The President, dedicating the new wharf that is as large as 15 football fields, expounded no new foreign policy plans, but at several points officials on the platform had to gesture to the crowd to silence.

Emphasizing his points by gesturing with his hands, Kennedy made a strongly worded appeal for the administration program to unite the economic self interest of the non - Communist world granting the President new powers to deal directly with foreign nations.

"The trade act will improve this country's national security," he said. "That security rests in large measure on a massive system of alliances, bases and other overseas commitments." The President, in his principal address, stated:

"Trade has built New Orleans — not only this great new pier, not only your banks and insurance companies and cotton markets, but also your great new chemical plants.

"Louisiana stands fifth among all the states of the nation in the percentage of local employment based on export trade. And the other four leading states are your neighbors —Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Mississippi.

"In short, the five leading states which would benefit the most from trade expansion are in this immediate area. All this also must go forward."

But in both his Nashville wharf speech and the later informal talk at city hall - where he stressed the need for education in the space age and pointed to the Michoud space development program here — The president was generally sober and firm.

"Today," he said, "This nation sells more goods on the world market than any other nation.

The pro-Castro MIR and Communists have been taking part in guerrilla and terrorist activity in the past few months. Officials said large numbers of them are university students.

We buy more goods than any other nation -- and we gain both from the buying and from the selling."

He outlined export programs and noted that without some imports there would be "no coffee breaks, no banana splits."

Kennedy said the present reciprocal trade agreements acts are "outdated" — that act is "no longer an adequate craft to carry us through the locks and canals of world trade. For the whole basic pattern of world trade is changing."

He warned that "our adversaries would be only too happy to fill the gap we leave."

Running at least 15 minutes late on a tight schedule, the President was hurried from city hall back to the airport where he lingered in the shadows of the Boeing 707 shaking hands.

He took off at 12:30 p.m. for Elgin Air Force Base in Florida.

Congressman Otto E. Passman of Monroe, who remained behind to make a speech in Gretna, attributed the President's warm reception as the "American people's way of paying tribute to the President, regardless of whom he is or where he comes from.

"The fact that terrific crowds greeted the President does not mean that they accept all of the President's philosophies," Passman said. "And neither will they be led to a socialistic state."

Kennedy spent much of the flight to New Orleans working aboard the jet, Passman said, but the President visited with members of the delegation.

"He was very congenial and it was a very pleasant trip," Passman said.

The Fifth District solon said he had a "nice chat" with Kennedy, but when asked what they discussed he replied. "We admired each other's suits."

New Orleans turned out in a big way for the President's visit. Classes were dismissed and most of the people watching the President go by were in their shirtsleeves.

State legislators, city officials and state officials composed a huge reception committee that waited at the airport for Kennedy to arrive.

With traffic blocked along the President's route, the motorcade sped quickly to the wharf on the banks of the Mississippi River. Children along the route called the President, "Hi, Mr. Kennedy".

He in turn reacted quickly to the crowd, smiling and waving from the moment he stepped from the plane. Bands played as the motorcade went by, flags were waved and Marine units stood at attention.

The crowds, however, appeared to applaud the President most when he walked among the children.

Kennedy's departure brought a sigh of relief to the city, however, in that it ended weeks of preparation to assure the President's safety.

Agents timed the Presidential route and surrounded him completely. Even his automobile equipped with a bubble top for bad weather — was flown from Washington in a Globemaster.

The maximum now is $10,000, but Womack said, "This is not sufficient to take care of the investment of farmers in view of the present high costs of operation."

He also has a bill that could run into stiff opposition in that it calls for a 30 - day cooling-off period before any strike could be called that directly affects perishable goods or public health.

Womack says the bill deals with labor unions.

While he has another bill establishing minimum standards for the cresoting or treating of fence posts, Womack wants to extend to the Department of Public Works the right to exappropriate property for right - of-ways to publicly constructed waterways.

"The Police Juries have that right now, but I don't think they exercise it," Womack said. "I don't think it's right for the people to be cut off from waterways that the state has spent a lot of money on."

As a closer worker with Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce, Womack says he'll probably handle some agriculture legislation for the state office.

Congressman Otto E. Passman of Monroe, who remained behind to make a speech in Gretna, attributed the President's warm reception as the "American people's way of paying tribute to the President, regardless of whom he is or where he comes from.

"The fact that terrific crowds greeted the President does not mean that they accept all of the President's philosophies," Passman said. "And neither will they be led to a socialistic state."

Kennedy spent much of the flight to New Orleans working aboard the jet, Passman said, but the President visited with members of the delegation.

"He was very congenial and it was a very pleasant trip," Passman said.

The Fifth District solon said he had a "nice chat" with Kennedy, but when asked what they discussed he replied. "We admired each other's suits."

New Orleans turned out in a big way for the President's visit. Classes were dismissed and most of the people watching the President go by were in their shirtsleeves.

State legislators, city officials and state officials composed a huge reception committee that waited at the airport for Kennedy to arrive.

With traffic blocked along the President's route, the motorcade sped quickly to the wharf on the banks of the Mississippi River. Children along the route called the President, "Hi, Mr. Kennedy".

He in turn reacted quickly to the crowd, smiling and waving from the moment he stepped from the plane. Bands played as the motorcade went by, flags were waved and Marine units stood at attention.

The crowds, however, appeared to applaud the President most when he walked among the children.

Kennedy's departure brought a sigh of relief to the city, however, in that it ended weeks of preparation to assure the President's safety.

Agents timed the Presidential route and surrounded him completely. Even his automobile equipped with a bubble top for bad weather — was flown from Washington in a Globemaster.

The maximum now is $10,000, but Womack said, "This is not sufficient to take care of the investment of farmers in view of the present high costs of operation."

He also has a bill that could run into stiff opposition in that it calls for a 30 - day cooling-off period before any strike could be called that directly affects perishable goods or public health.

Womack says the bill deals with labor unions.

While he has another bill establishing minimum standards for the cresoting or treating of fence posts, Womack wants to extend to the Department of Public Works the right to exappropriate property for right - of-ways to publicly constructed waterways.

"The Police Juries have that right now, but I don't think they exercise it," Womack said. "I don't think it's right for the people to be cut off from waterways that the state has spent a lot of money on."

As a closer worker with Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce, Womack says he'll probably handle some agriculture legislation for the state office.

Japanese Jail Five Trainmen In Probe Of Train Crash Fatal For Over 150

By ALAN CLINE

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese legislators moved Saturday to investigate a triple train crash which claimed more than 150 lives Thursday as police jailed five trainmen on suspicion of criminal negligence.

Both houses of Parliament scheduled extraordinary sessions Sunday to begin a probe of the second worst train tragedy in Japan since the end of World War II. A crash in 1947 took 184 lives.

Saturday—Children's Day—ended the nation's Golden Week of three national holidays, but authorities stayed on the job working to identify victims of the crash, in a workingman's district three miles north of downtown Tokyo.

Conditions of the bodies made identification difficult. Officials, 24 hours after the crash, posted varying casualty lists.

Police said 154 died and 165 were injured. The fire department listed 152 dead and 336 injured, 144 seriously.

Police and Japan National Railway officials said the accident resulted because a freight train passed through a red light near Mikawashima station. It jumped the tracks and was sideswiped by a crowded outbound commuter train. Stunned passengers climbed down to the tracks and then an inbound commuter train roared into the wreckage, jumped the tracks and plunged down an embankment.

The engineers and conductors of the freight and outbound commuter train were jailed, along with a station signal man.

"We have determined that green signal light was an imp sibility," said Shoichi Kimu

Farm Bureau Aroused

Never before so aroused as it is now in opposition to federal control of farming, the Louisiana Farm Bureau has launched a big drive for members committed to work to regain a free-enterprise farming system. Leaders in Ouachita Parish are supporting the campaign wholeheartedly.

Joe Dixon, president of the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau, announced plans for a "decision day" campaign to begin immediately and to end May 10.

Similar campaigns will be conducted throughout Louisiana in a move to emphasize oppisition to the bill introduced in Congress, through the efforts of Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture, to tighten federal control over farming.

The incentive being presented to non-member farmers is to join the Farm Bureau and take a stand against the omnibus farm bill, which would virtually make farming a federal project and take it out of the hands of the individual farmers.

Keynote of the campaign is: "Who should manage our farms and ranches in Louisiana?"

The Louisiana Farm Bureau says:

"What do you want? Freedom and responsibility — or controls and compulsion?

"Others made a decision. Farmers in the American colonies back in 1775 made their decision. Remember the 'shot heard around the world?'

"Now we must decide. Farmers and ranchers must make their choice again!

"Do you want freedom with opportunity enough to work for it?

"Do you believe every farmer and citizen has a responsibility to—

"1.—Learn what's in the proposed government farm programs?

"—If they provide for more or less controls and red tape?

"—If they will result in more efficient or less efficient farm operation?

"—If they limit the right of a farmer or rancher to make his own decisions on how to operate his business?

"2.—Join with a voluntary organization of farmers to study farm problems, to help develop action programs and to participate in activities aimed at doing what farmers want done?

"3.—Say 'yes' to the invitation of the Farm Bureau members who want to build a more effective organization which will let each farmer take part in developing a cooperative program aimed at solving his problems?"

The Farm Bureau points out that the proposed farm bill will:

1. Reduce the amount of milk Louisiana dairymen can produce.

Penalize dairymen up to $2.50 per hundredweight for over-producing their quota.

2. Put quotas on the amount of feed grains that can be grown in Louisiana, even when the farmer is growing it to feed his own livestock.

3. Turn our agricultural surpluses over to the United Nations and let that organization give our food away (probably to communist nations, since the U.N. is now largely controlled by communist and Afro-Asian nations favorable to the communists).

4. Give the secretary of agriculture authority to condemn and buy up our farms for use as "recreation" areas. This would make the secretary of agriculture ruler over the nation's farms and allow him to deprive any farmer of his property if he chose, a proposal so outrageous that it is almost impossible to conceive that any congressman who is not an outright socialist could condone it.

The Farm Bureau is against this legislation and is asking all farmers who don't like it to join in actively opposing it.

Those who argue that the purpose of integration is not interracial marriages should take a look at the huge percentage increase in white-Negro marriages in Washington, D. C.

As almost everyone knows, Negroes have virtually taken over the capital of the United States, the Negro population there now constituting 55 per cent of the total. Even so, President Kennedy has said he thinks Negroes should be given more important jobs in Washington.

A report out of Washington by Capital Writers Bureau stated that marriages between whites and Negroes during 1960 were nine times the number of such marriages in 1950, or only 10 years earlier. During one six-month period in 1960 there were 18 white-Negro marriages, which would be at a rate of 36 a year. For the same period in 1950 there were only two white-Negro marriages, making a rate of only four a year.

Furthermore, in the two so-called white-Negro marriages in the six-month period in 1950 there was some doubt as to the race of the so-called white persons. One of these marriages was between a man of Mexican ancestry and a Negro woman. The other was between a Negro man and a woman who had formerly lived in Puerto Rico but who was listed as white.

One important difference was found in most of the white-Negro marriages in 1950 as compared to 1960. In 1950 the so-called white persons were emigrants from other countries and the Negroes were either natives or emigrants. In 1960 most of the whites in the marriages were natives and the Negroes were either natives or emigrants.

If the 1960 rate of white-Negro marriages should continue for 10 years there would be at least 500 white-Negro families, with 1,000 to 1,500 white-Negro offspring.

Most of the white families able to do so have left Washington to escape the heavy Negro influx. This includes many of the congressmen who vote for integration for others but flee from it for themselves. The result of the influx of Negroes and exodus of the white people who are able to leave means that the white people who are left are being engulfed by the Negroes. As so often happens, those who are financially unable to protect themselves are the victims of pernicious laws and regulations enacted by legislators or imposed by the courts.

Now that Washington, the capital of our nation, is being used as a spawning ground for miscegenation and mongrelization, the backers of integration seem to have accomplished their purpose. It won't be long before all of the real white people are gone from Washington—and in their place will be an alien breed, neither white nor black.

South Korea Offering Aid

Proposes To Send Military Forces To South Vietnam To Join In Fight Against Communist-Led Troops

South Korea is offering to send military forces to South Vietnam to join in that government's expanding fight against the Communist - led Viet Cong guerrillas.

The electrifying offer, which includes both combat and training troops, was made by General Pak Chung - Hi, chairman of South Korea's ruling military junta, in proposals to Saigon and Washington.

President Ngo Dinh Diem, who was approached first with the offer, has sent word to General Pak that he welcomes the troops if arrangements can be made with the U. S. to transport and pay for the operating cost of the expeditionary force.

Already, President Diem has arranged for an advance group of South Korean military advisers to come to Saigon this month to discuss details of the offer with his military advisers.

President Kennedy, advised of the offer after Diem gave his conditional acceptance, has instructed Defense Secretary Robert McNamara to explore the proposal thoroughly with Diem when they meet in Saigon next week.

The President asked the State Department and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to prepare position papers on the political and military effects and the chain reaction that might explode from the employment of South Korean troops in South Vietnam. Also, he requested the Central Intelligence Agency to prepare an estimate as to whether the use of these Asian forces would bring regular Chinese Communist troops into South Vietnam.

In his startling troop offer, General Pak indicated he would send upwards of 50,000 combat troops if needed to help South Vietnam block off the steady flow of Communist guerrillas from North Vietnam.

General Pak made it clear that he did not have the money to pay for the transportation and logistical support of these troops while fighting in South Vietnam. He suggested that Diem seek U.S. aid to pay for these forces since this country is already footing over 70 percent of South Vietnam's military costs now.

The 600,000-man South Korean Army, along with two U.S. Army divisons, is standing guard along the 155-mile demilitarized zone separating South from North Korea. It is fully trained and equipped by the U.S.

DIVIDED VIEW — General Pak's offer to South Vietnam already has touched off a sharp policy dispute among President Kennedy's foreign policy and military advisers.

As reported in this column on April 27, the State Department jolted the Joint Chiefs of Staff by preparing a paper recommending that the U.S.-supported South Korean Army be reduced by one-third.

Significantly, this paper was drafted by Dr. Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, after he was informed of General Pak's troop offer to President Diem.

The effect of Rostow's paper, if adopted as U.S. policy, would be to block the use of South Korean troops outside that country. The proposed 200,000 reduction would leave that country with a military force of questionable strength to protect its own 155-mile border with Communist North Korea.

General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who is accompanying McNamara to South Vietnam, has urged the President to seriously consider the use of these forces.

Defense Secretary McNamara is supporting General Lemnitzer's views. Before department, he told the President that he was still searching for the answer to "How do we win the war in South Vietnam?"

"Maybe the use of South Korean forces is the answer," he added.

SEEKING HELP—Phoumi Nosavan, Deputy Premier of Laos, also believes that South Korean troops may be the answer to his country's growing Communist dilemma. He is conferring with General Pak to obtain both economic and military help to replace aid cut off by the U.S. . . . Russia is stepping up her air support of the Communist Viet Cong guerrilla forces in South Vietnam. For the first time, Soviet planes have been spotted on radar, making air drops of supplies inside South Vietnam. The drop was near Pleiku, the Communist Viet Cong headquarters near the Cambodia border . . . Soviet planes are now making 16 flights daily from Hanoi in North Vietnam to bases in Laos to deliver supplies for the Communist guerrilla operations in South Vietnam . . . The 1,200 regular Chinese Communist troops in Laos are slowly working their way toward the South Vietnam border. U.S. Intelligence expects these forces to pass into South Vietnam toward the end of May.

Promotion Ills

Some Actually Crack Up Under Increased Responsibilities

It's not unusual that we see men who become nervous and unhappy after they have had a promotion. Some actually crack up under the increased stress of responsibility. They tell me they were much happier in their old job although they made less money and didn't have their name lettered on a private door.

I was talking to a popular, smiling, bank teller the other day. Keep this up, I said, and some day you'll be president around here. "Who wants it?" he said. Then, seriously: "Honestly, doctor, I'm very happy where I am."

Many people are like that. And who is to say they are wrong?

Another type of unhappiness on the job is caused by a conflict of personalities. When that happens, it's also wise to consider a change of employment at a sacrifice (a gain in health and happiness weighed against a loss in income). For example, consider this letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am a young man of 41 and have been absolutely miserable for the past year and a half. Up to then I have had a healthy, happy, married life with two fine children and a most wonderful wife.

About a year and a half ago I was sort of promoted (no more money, just more responsibility) and put to work with a younger man who would be my superior. I did not like this fellow before I worked with him directly, and I have been sick since the day I received my "promotion" and worked with him.

I am from a poor family and poor upbringing but have gotten as far as I have on my own. He, on the other hand, is a son of one of the pioneers in the business and has always been without need for anything.

I had a serious attack of stomach pains, chest pains, nervousness, nausea, etc., about the time we began to work together. I suffered for four weeks before I went to my family physician who put me in the hospital for possible ulcer.

All the tests (GI, barium enema, gall bladder) proved negative. I was put on tranquilizers. For the past year I have been miserable, no pep, no ambition for work, no happiness at home—finding it even difficult to smile.

I have a choice. To continue in this new position, hoping I will learn to like my co - worker, or give up this job and return to my old one — which my boss says is always open. What would you do? —Mr. F.

Comment: I'd be waiting at the boss's office at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning with my resignation. I'd be glad to take my nameplate off the door myself. I'd even be willing to forego any other privileges in exchange for my former happy business and home environment. It's true that there are some things that neither money nor prestige can buy.

Let me be the first to congratulate you on your self-imposed demotion.

NEW CURE FOR BALDNESS?

Dear Dr. steincrohn: Is it really true that if a person pulls one hair out of his scalp that six grow back in? — Mr. D.

Comment: If that were true we'd have a simple cure for baldness. I have a light-hearted friend who is completely bald except for a half - dozen strands of hair. When asked why he doesn't have them cut or shaved, he says: "What? And be bald?" I don't think he'd take the chance of pulling out these hairs with the hope that many more would grow in.

Plans Are Progressing For National Center In Washington

Washington is well on the way to becoming the seat of culture in the United States as well as the seat of government.

Plans are now moving apace for a long talked of National Culture Center here, with sights hopefully set on 1965 for the premiere performance; the recently formed National Ballet Foundation is opening in Washington next September a school patterned after some of the leading European ballet schools; and there is pending in Congress a bill to establish a Federal Council on the Arts to stimulate nation-wide interest in, and appreciation of the arts.

The most recent development in this field is a drive launched to raise funds for a new home for the American Symphony Orchestra League, for which a 40-acre tract of land already has been donated in near-by Vienna, Va.

The culture movement has received unprecedented impetus from First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy, whose interest in the arts has focused new and intensified attention on the White House—not merely as the historic home of Presidents, but as the current center of the performing arts, and also a show-case for the works of contemporary and other artists of renown.

A portable stage that can be hastily assembled for theatrical performances in the elegant white and gold East Ball Room, has become almost as much a fixture at the Executive Mansion as the famous gold mirrored plateau from the Monroe Administration which forms the exquisite setting for floral arangements at glittering state dinners.

Guests of President and Mrs. Kennedy have been privileged to see enacted on this stage Shakesparean drama (following a dinner honoring English speaking President Abboud of Sudan); Mozart's comic opera "Cosi fan tutte," by youthful singers from the Met's Opera School (at an afternoon party for 235 embassy children from 69 countries); and a spirited ballet performance by Jerome Robbins' "Ballet: U.S.A." (at the dinner honoring the Shah of Iran and Empress Farah during their recent state visit).

Further highlighting the importance of the arts, the Kennedys gave a dinner in honor of conductor - composer Igor Stravinsky while he was here to conduct performances of his opera "Oedipus Rex" last winter, and when Pablo Cassels, world famous cellist, played at a White House dinner honoring Gov. Marin of Puerto Rico, the guest list included many of this country's leading composers and conductors.

"I think it is tremendously important that we regard music not just as a part of our arsenal in the cold war, but an integral part of a free society," the President has said.

The proposed National Cultural Center received a tremendous boost recently when Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower agreed to serve with Mrs. Kennedy as honorary co-chairman of the Center. (Mrs. Kennedy had accepeted the chairmanship last February.) The participation of both the present and former First Ladies emphasizes the bipartisan nature of the Center, and assures broad support for the project.

President Kennedy has expressed gratification that Mrs. Eisenhower is to be a part of the undertaking. "The National Cultural Center began in the Administration of President Eisenhower, and is the most significant cultural undertaking in the history of Washington, and is of enormous importance to the cultural life of our nation as a whole," he declared.

With Congressional backing, a 20-acre site on the Potomac has been settled on for the Center. Present plans call for three auditoriums — a Symphony Hall seating 2,750, a Playhouse with a 1,200 seating capacity, and an Opera House where opera, musical comedy and ballet can be presented to from 2,200 to 2,500. The playhouse is expected to be the first building completed.

Mrs. Kennedy also is honorary chairman of the National Ballet Foundation. The Foundation will run the Washington School of Ballet, where President and Mrs. Kennedy's little daughter Caroline attends dancing classes. The school is being enlarged to provide classrooms for academic courses, which will combined with the ballet instruction. In addition to operating the school, the Foundation also sponsors the Washington Ballet Company, and will finance liberal scholarships.

The proposed new Symphony League headquarters will provide training for composers and conductors, as well as music critics, and also will be a center for research into the orchestral arts and sciences. Its primary objective is to improve the quality of orchestral music in this country.

The chairman of the building fund pointed out that there are 1,200 orchestras in the United States, as compared with 600 in 1940, and said in another 10 years there may be as many as 2,500. "We don't have enough musicians, composers or conductors to keep up the quality of our music," he emphasized.

The legislation establishing a Federal Advisory Council on the Arts is currently bottled up in the House Rules Committee, and its chances of enactment this year are uncertain. In 1961, it was brought up in the House under suspension of the rules, but was defeated 173 to 166. However, proponents of the bill claim that bipartisan support for the measure is building up, and they are hopeful it will be reported out by the Rules Committee before adjournment. They feel that once it clears the House its adoption by the Senate is assured, as a similar bill was passed by the Senate in the 84th Congress, but was defeated in the House.

Introduced jointly by Reps. Frank Thompson, Jr. (Dem-N.J.) and John V. Lindsay (Rep.-N.Y.) the bill would set up a 21-member advisory council representing various art fields such as painting, music, drama, architecture, and sculpture. The council would have advisory powers only, it primary purpose being to stimulate interest in the arts throughout the land. It would cooperate with local, state and federal agencies to foster artistic and cultural endeavors and the use of the arts in the best interests of the United States.

Farm Bureau Aroused

Never before so aroused as it is now in opposition to federal control of farming, the Louisiana Farm Bureau has launched a big drive for members committed to work to regain a free-enterprise farming system. Leaders in Ouachita Parish are supporting the campaign wholeheartedly.

Joe Dixon, president of the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau, announced plans for a "decision day" campaign to begin immediately and to end May 10.

Similar campaigns will be conducted throughout Louisiana in a move to emphasize oppisition to the bill introduced in Congress, through the efforts of Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture, to tighten federal control over farming.

The incentive being presented to non-member farmers is to join the Farm Bureau and take a stand against the omnibus farm bill, which would virtually make farming a federal project and take it out of the hands of the individual farmers.

Keynote of the campaign is: "Who should manage our farms and ranches in Louisiana?"

The Louisiana Farm Bureau says:

"What do you want? Freedom and responsibility — or controls and compulsion?

"Others made a decision. Farmers in the American colonies back in 1775 made their decision. Remember the 'shot heard around the world?'

"Now we must decide. Farmers and ranchers must make their choice again!

"Do you want freedom with opportunity enough to work for it?

"Do you believe every farmer and citizen has a responsibility to—

"1.—Learn what's in the proposed government farm programs?

"—If they provide for more or less controls and red tape?

"—If they will result in more efficient or less efficient farm operation?

"—If they limit the right of a farmer or rancher to make his own decisions on how to operate his business?

"2.—Join with a voluntary organization of farmers to study farm problems, to help develop action programs and to participate in activities aimed at doing what farmers want done?

"3.—Say 'yes' to the invitation of the Farm Bureau members who want to build a more effective organization which will let each farmer take part in developing a cooperative program aimed at solving his problems?"

The Farm Bureau points out that the proposed farm bill will:

1. Reduce the amount of milk Louisiana dairymen can produce.

Penalize dairymen up to $2.50 per hundredweight for over-producing their quota.

2. Put quotas on the amount of feed grains that can be grown in Louisiana, even when the farmer is growing it to feed his own livestock.

3. Turn our agricultural surpluses over to the United Nations and let that organization give our food away (probably to communist nations, since the U.N. is now largely controlled by communist and Afro-Asian nations favorable to the communists).

4. Give the secretary of agriculture authority to condemn and buy up our farms for use as "recreation" areas. This would make the secretary of agriculture ruler over the nation's farms and allow him to deprive any farmer of his property if he chose, a proposal so outrageous that it is almost impossible to conceive that any congressman who is not an outright socialist could condone it.

The Farm Bureau is against this legislation and is asking all farmers who don't like it to join in actively opposing it.

Those who argue that the purpose of integration is not interracial marriages should take a look at the huge percentage increase in white-Negro marriages in Washington, D. C.

As almost everyone knows, Negroes have virtually taken over the capital of the United States, the Negro population there now constituting 55 per cent of the total. Even so, President Kennedy has said he thinks Negroes should be given more important jobs in Washington.

A report out of Washington by Capital Writers Bureau stated that marriages between whites and Negroes during 1960 were nine times the number of such marriages in 1950, or only 10 years earlier. During one six-month period in 1960 there were 18 white-Negro marriages, which would be at a rate of 36 a year. For the same period in 1950 there were only two white-Negro marriages, making a rate of only four a year.

Furthermore, in the two so-called white-Negro marriages in the six-month period in 1950 there was some doubt as to the race of the so-called white persons. One of these marriages was between a man of Mexican ancestry and a Negro woman. The other was between a Negro man and a woman who had formerly lived in Puerto Rico but who was listed as white.

One important difference was found in most of the white-Negro marriages in 1950 as compared to 1960. In 1950 the so-called white persons were emigrants from other countries and the Negroes were either natives or emigrants. In 1960 most of the whites in the marriages were natives and the Negroes were either natives or emigrants.

If the 1960 rate of white-Negro marriages should continue for 10 years there would be at least 500 white-Negro families, with 1,000 to 1,500 white-Negro offspring.

Most of the white families able to do so have left Washington to escape the heavy Negro influx. This includes many of the congressmen who vote for integration for others but flee from it for themselves. The result of the influx of Negroes and exodus of the white people who are able to leave means that the white people who are left are being engulfed by the Negroes. As so often happens, those who are financially unable to protect themselves are the victims of pernicious laws and regulations enacted by legislators or imposed by the courts.

Now that Washington, the capital of our nation, is being used as a spawning ground for miscegenation and mongrelization, the backers of integration seem to have accomplished their purpose. It won't be long before all of the real white people are gone from Washington —and in their place will be an alien breed, neither white nor black.

South Korea Offering Aid

Proposes To Send Military Forces To South Vietnam To Join In Fight Against Communist-Led Troops

South Korea is offering to send military forces to South Vietnam to join in that government's expanding fight against the Communist - led Viet Cong guerrillas.

The electrifying offer, which includes both combat and training troops, was made by General Pak Chung - Hi, chairman of South Korea's ruling military junta, in proposals to Saigon and Washington.

President Ngo Dinh Diem, who was approached first with the offer, has sent word to General Pak that he welcomes the troops if arrangements can be made with the U. S. to transport and pay for the operating cost of the expeditionary force.

Already, President Diem has arranged for an advance group of South Korean military advisers to come to Saigon this month to discuss details of the offer with his military advisers.

President Kennedy, advised of the offer after Diem gave his conditional acceptance, has instructed Defense Secretary Robert McNamara to explore the proposal thoroughly with Diem when they meet in Saigon next week.

The President asked the State Department and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to prepare position papers on the political and military effects and the chain reaction that might explode from the employment of South Korean troops in South Vietnam. Also, he requested the Central Intelligence Agency to prepare an estimate as to whether the use of these Asian forces would bring regular Chinese Communist troops into South Vietnam.

In his startling troop offer, General Pak indicated he would send upwards of 50,000 combat troops if needed to help South Vietnam block off the steady flow of Communist guerrillas from North Vietnam.

General Pak made it clear that he did not have the money to pay for the transportation and logistical support of these troops while fighting in South Vietnam. He suggested that Diem seek U.S. aid to pay for these forces since this country is already footing over 70 percent of South Vietnam's military costs now.

The 600,000-man South Korean Army, along with two U.S. Army divisons, is standing guard along the 155-mile demilitarized zone separating South from North Korea. It is fully trained and equipped by the U.S.

DIVIDED VIEW — General Pak's offer to South Vietnam already has touched off a sharp policy dispute among President Kennedy's foreign policy and military advisers.

As reported in this column on April 27, the State Department jolted the Joint Chiefs of Staff by preparing a paper recommending that the U.S.-supported South Korean Army be reduced by one-third.

Significantly, this paper was drafted by Dr. Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, after he was informed of General Pak's troop offer to President Diem.

The effect of Rostow's paper, if adopted as U.S. policy, would be to block the use of South Korean troops outside that country. The proposed 200,000 reduction would leave that country with a military force of questionable strength to protect its own 155-mile border with Communist North Korea.

General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who is accompanying McNamara to South Vietnam, has urged the President to seriously consider the use of these forces.

Defense Secretary McNamara is supporting General Lemnitzer's views. Before department, he told the President that he was still searching for the answer to "How do we win the war in South Vietnam?"

"Maybe the use of South Korean forces is the answer," he added.

SEEKING HELP—Phoumi Nosavan, Deputy Premier of Laos, also believes that South Korean troops may be the answer to his country's growing Communist dilemma. He is conferring with General Pak to obtain both economic and military help to replace aid cut off by the U.S. . . . Russia is stepping up her air support of the Communist Viet Cong guerrilla forces in South Vietnam. For the first time, Soviet planes have been spotted on radar, making air drops of supplies inside South Vietnam. The drop was near Pleiku, the Communist Viet Cong headquarters near the Cambodia border . . . Soviet planes are now making 16 flights daily from Hanoi in North Vietnam to bases in Laos to deliver supplies for the Communist guerrilla operations in South Vietnam . . . The 1,200 regular Chinese Communist troops in Laos are slowly working their way toward the South Vietnam border. U.S. Intelligence expects these forces to pass into South Vietnam toward the end of May.

SUPREME COURT ATTACK

Birch Founder Backs Eastland

By WILLIAM CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP)—Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, gave 100 per cent approval Friday to Sen. James O. Eastland's attack on the U.S. Supreme Court. And, going farther, he said Chief Justice Earl Warren should be impeached.

The chunky, gray-haired leader of the controversial right-wing group made his statements during a question-and answer period that followed a speech to the Executives Club.

One member asked if Welch agreed with Sen. Eastland, D-Miss., who asserted Wednesday that a Supreme Court majority has "upheld the position advocated by the Communist party" in some recent decisions. The Mississippian's Senate speech drew protests from both sides of the party aisle.

"I agree 100 per cent," Welch replied.

To a query about his society's attitude toward Warren, Welch replied: "We never had accused Warren of anything but violation of his oath of office to uphold the Constitution."

Welch said court decisions have "broken down constitutional safeguards" for individuals. Warren, he said, "deserves impeachment by the House of Representatives," with the Senate to decide for or aganst his removal.

He said, "An awful lot of good Americans agree with us."

He was applauded at that point. It was one of the six times he drew applause during his appearance before an overflow audience of 1,500 business and professional men in the grand ballroom of the Sherman Hotel.

(Under the procedure to which Welch referred, the House impeaches—charges—a federal official and the Senate acts as a trial court.)

A query about so-called muzzling of military men prompted Welch to say a drive has started to remove patriotic officers—part of a global Communist campaign to break down nationalistic armed forces.

He said Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who was relieved of his command in Europe after he was accused of attacking prominent Americans and for his troop indoctrination methods was "used as a warning to others."

Welch opposed a preventive war. He said the Communist bloc would start to fall to pieces if the U.S. government would "stop helping Communists everywhere in the world."

Asked if the John Birch Society welcomed bigots and racists, Welch said it doesn't allow bigots.

Concerning racists, he stated: "We are opposed to government force to support either segregation or desegregation."

He declined to disclose how many persons belong to the society He once described the group as small, and again as numbering tens of thousands.

Rights Chief Asks Faster Integration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission (CRC) said Friday that school integration must be speeded up so that Negro children do not have to "suffer the educational deprivation of their parents."

The chairman, John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University, told the commission's annual educational conference that better leadership must be developed in Southern communities. He said it is needed to stimulate general public support for voluntary compliance with the Supreme Court decision on desegration.

But Hannah said the problem of leadership is not wholly confined to the South. "The required adjustments seem no less urgent in the North than in the South," he said.

Hannah said it was clear that no single plan of desegregation could be applied in all communities because situations vary.

He noted that a reclassification of schools seemed to work in some small cities while redistricting of schools without regard to race appeared to a solution in medium size cities.

Hannah said the continued population shift from rural to urban areas and migration of Southern Negroes to the large northern cities "makes the solution of the big city problem most urgent."

Board's Rail Wage Hike Plan Assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Railroad and union officials Friday denounced with equal fervor—and for exactly opposite reasons—a recommended 10.2 cent an hour wage increase for 500,000 non-operating rail employes.

Railroad executives, estimating the annual cost at $105 million, said the Thursday recommendation by a presidentially appointed board was too high and would be inflationary. Union officials said it was too low and did not keep pace with rising living costs.

Left somewhere near the middle was President Kennedy. He did not specifically endorse the board's report, but noted that the panel said its recommendations fell within the non-inflationary wage pattern suggested by the council of economic advisers

Union and industry negotiators were far apart. Chief industry negotiator J. E. Wolfe said "there is absolutely no justification in the record for any wage increase whatsoever." His union counterpart, George E. Leighty, renewed his call for a 25-cent increase.

Industry and union officials could not even agree on how much the non-operating employes made last year. Industry officials said average straight time hourly earnings amounted to $2.47 an hour. Leighty put the figure at $2.43

New Soviet A-Tests Likely

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. detection stations have been alerted to be on the lookout for a new series of Soviet nuclear explosions.

Administration officials said they anticipate new Soviet tests at almost any moment. It is expected that most of the shots will be in the atmosphere and that some of them at least will be fired primarily for political purposes.

Word has gone out, informants said, to stations equipped with highly specialized detection apparatus to be on the lookout for blast evidences.

Scientific stations get a variety of data on nuclear explosions including earth shock waves, atmospheric shock waves and electrical and radioactive effects in the atmosphere when explosions are above ground.

U.S. officials have expected the first Soviet explosion almost daily since the United States resumed atmospheric testing in the Pacific April 25. They reported at the time that they believed the Soviet Union was making preparations and that a new series, supplementing the Soviet tests of last fall, would begin shortly.

Soviet diplomats in contact with Western diplomats are understood to have left the clear impression that they expected their government to carry out the warning voiced by Soviet Premier Khrushchev that if the United States tested so would the Soviet Union.

Soviet scientists presumably are still digesting the data they gained from about 50 nuclear explosions last fall, and probably need more time than they have had so far for full analysis.

Consequently the belief in informed quarters here is that at least some of the Soviet shots will be primarily political—that is, will be fired to prove the point that the Soviet Union is going ahead in the nuclear weapons race because the United States decided to test again.

Officials also say that the possibility the Soviet Union will explode another superbomb cannot be ruled out Last fall they set off a 58-megaton blast, which is an explosion equal to 58 million tons of TNT

U.S. tests are being conducted in the atmosphere over the Central Pacific in the vicinity of Christmas and Johnston Islands, south of Hawaii The chief Soviet testing grounds are in south-central Asia and in the arctic region.

Expectation of Soviet testing developed more than a month ago when U.S. officials decided that the Soviets had a number of unsolved problems from their experiments last fall

Among them is the problen developing an antimissile defe through the use of nuclear ex sions and the creation of wha sometimes called a neutraon f

The idea is to create in sp a kind of radioactive cloud w would detonate prematurely render harmless incoming clear-attack missiles The Ur States has disclosed that it p some Pacific shots at extrer high altitudes, indicating that are connected with this and o nuclear combat research p lems.

Sukarno Dealt Major Political Defeat On Bill

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno suffered a major political defeat Friday when he was forced to withdraw a bill which calls for only one-third of the new legislative assembly to be elected.

Sukarno ordered the bill returned to the advisory council after all major political parties criticized dictatorial provisions

Under the bill, Sukarno sought to control the national and provincial legislative assemblies and the People's Congress by appointing two-thirds of the members

The bill reached only the committee stage of discussion in Parliament.

The bill was Sukarno's answer to pressure from the political parties for a general election now that internal security has been restored throughout the nation The last election was in 1955.

Sukarno has frequently expressed dislike of elections, arguing that Indonesia's 96 million citizens are not ready for Western democracy.

Reuther Asks Federal Law To Hike Pay

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Labor leader Walter P. Reuther Friday called for federal legislation to force most employers to pay double time for overtime worked beyond 40 hours a week.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, declared that such a change in the wage-hour law would tend to create more jobs by increasing the cost of overtime.

Too many employers, he said, prefer to pay the existing time-and-a-half premium to workers on the payroll rather than hire additional men and incur added expense for their vacations, pensions and other fringe benefits.

The new spread-the-work proposal was unveiled in Reuther's keynote address to 2,800 delegates at the opening session of the UAW's 18th convention.

Reuther also urged President Kennedy to fight harder to gain congressional approval of administration programs designed to slash heavy unemployment.

Generally, however, he praised Kennedy's performance in both foreign and domestic fields in a 70-minute talk that stressed UAW concern over the nation's 4.4 million jobless. The President will speak at the convention Tuesday.

Reuther renewed his call for a flexible work week that would be shortened during periods of heavy unemployment and then brought up what he termed "obsolete overtime provisions."

"It's morally wrong to work excessive overtime in plants when millions of workers are denied the right to work one hour a week in America," he said. Government figures indicate the average factory hand put in 2.6 hours of overtime in March.

Aides of the UAW leader said the union also would demand double-time pay for overtime in contract negotiations with management.

They contended that it would not necessarily raise labor costs since the companies could avoid paying the premium by hiring enough workers to operate at a 40-hour week.

NEWSMEN HEAR James E. Wolfe, center, chief spokesman for the nation's railroads, announce at least a weeks delay in decision of railroads on whether or not to accept a Presidential fact-finding board's recommendation for pay boost for 450,000 non-operating workers. Youths Hang Up Son With Wire, Parents Assert

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The parents of a Walker high school student told the State-Times Friday their son received leg and groin injuries when other students strung him up with coathanger wire by the heels.

Mrs. T. J. Dedeaux of the town 15 miles east of Baton Rouge, said her husband sat on his porch Thursday night with a shotgun to defend his family from carloads of boys who are driving up in our driveway and down our street shouting threats."

The newspaper said the secretary of a Denham Springs physician, Dr. Clarence E. Walker, confirmed Lanny Dedeaux was examined and treated and referred to a bone specialist in Baton Rou for X-rays.

Noel Wilkins, principal of the school, and Reed Barnett, janitor, denied any such incident happened last Thursday or Friday.

FOR ALGERIANS

French To Speed Independence Vote

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's government, alarmed by continued bloodshed in Algeria, announced Friday it has decided to speed independence for the North African territory regardless of violence by European terrorists there.

Reliable political sources said the referendum, in which the Algerian population will vote on whether it wants independence, will be held around mid-July.

The government also announced it has agreed on drastic new measures to crush the European Secret Army (OAS) and to halt sabotage of the six-week-old Algerian peace settlement by mutinous European civil servants in Algeria.

Government spokesmen refused to say what these steps were. But France's high commissioner announced in a broadcast Thursday night that any civil servants who continue to disobey or resist orders will be fired and deported immediately to France.

The government's new tough stand was revealed after Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe delivered a report to a three-hour cabinet meeting presided over Friday morning by De Gaulle himself.

A communique published afterward said the government is determined to apply the March 18 Evian peace settlement in its entirety and to adhere strictly to the timetable for independence provided in it.

Under the Evian agreement, the referendum must take place within three to six months after the cease-fire. The six-month period expires Sept. 19.

This interim period was designed to permit restoration of law and order in Algeria. But the OAS, in a desperate struggle against establishment of a Moslem dominated Algerian republic, has kept up a reign of terror in which nearly 2,500 have been killed and more than 5,200 wounded since the cease-fire March 19.

NASA Official Gives Lecture At Convocation

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Walter Williams, associate director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for manned space craft, said Friday there is almost unlimited challenge in translation of space age products to modern living uses.

Williams, 1938 graduate of Louisiana State University, told the LSU spring convocation the United States' space program is "dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge."

The program, he said, will pay off in three categories—direct national resources, direct and indirect consumer benefits and national prestige and morale.

Williams said the inherent challenge in the space program is directly involved in pioneering aspects. He said this included not only pilots but the many who "conceive, design and supervise the manufacture and operation of space age systems."

The most significant national resource produced by Project Mercury, Williams said, "is the management capability for the conduct of these kind of fantastically complex technical programs."

U.S. Plans Cutback On A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, which numbers its nuclear weapons in the tens of thousands, was reported Friday to be cutting back on plans for future production.

Under the reported plan, the cutback would come mainly in production of smaller atomic weapons designed for Army battlefield use.

The Defense Department, which orders weapons from the Atomic Energy Commission, refused comment on grounds the government does not discuss its nuclear weapons stockpiles.

Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric said in a speech last October, however, that this country had "tens of thousands" of strategic and tactical vehicles for delivering nuclear weapons, "and, of course, we have more than one warhead for each vehicle."

The great size of the weapons stockpile, ranging in destructive force from a fraction of a kiloton to about 25 megatons, probably was a key consideration in the decision to cutback future orders. A kiloton is the equal of 1,000 tons of TNT in destructive force. A megaton equals one million tons of TNT.

The United States has been stockpiling atomic weapons for more than 15 years, starting with big atomic bombs and gradually spreading into whole families of tactical weapons for ground and amphibious forces.

In the late years of the previous Eisenhower administration, there were defense officials who recognized there eventually would have to be a survey of weapons needs and probably a thinnning out of orders.

The latest budget submitted to Congress, however, continued to call for increasing nuclear weapons productions. The AEC requested $742 million for such weapons in the fiscal year starting next July 1, compared with $630 million in the current year.

The Kennedy administration has shown concern over the spread of nuclear weapons and this may have been another point in the background of the reported new decision.

Along with its big buildup of conventional strength and its drive to get Allies to do the same, the administration has tried to raise the level of warfare at which nuclear weapons would be introduced into the battle.

At this point, the lowest command level at which tactical nuclear weapons are deployed is the Army division which has Honest John rockets and eight inch howitzers.

Clay Praises West Berlin U.S. Troops

BERLIN (UPI)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay Friday saluted the 6,500 "cool . . . responsible" American troops in Berlin as among the best peacetime forces he ever has seen.

The 65-year-old general delivered his tribute in what amounted to a farewell message. He will return to the United States Tuesday from his post here as President Kennedy's personal representative during a period of crisis.

The message was printed in the U.S. Army weekly Berlin Observer.

"I have never seen better troops in peacetime than those of the Berlin garrison," Clay said.

They handle themselves with "complete restraint and coolness in situations which could have developed into the use of force," he said.

Clay could have been thinking of the day last October when Soviet army tanks rolled up to the Friedrichstrasse crossing point and were confronted almost muzzle to muzzle by U.S. armor.

Clay singled out military police sent by helicopter to guard the islated enclave of Steinstuecken, separated from West Berlin by a mile of East Germany.

"In the exercise of a high degree of responsibility, they have not only provided protection for, but also won the respect of, the people of Steinstuecken," Clay said.

While the East Berlin newspaper Berliner Zeitung was boasting of possession of Soviet surface-to-air missiles, the Communist party paper Neues Deutschland was criticizing farmers and local officials for falling behind in spring planting.

Reuther Asks Federal Law To Hike Pay

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Labor leader Walter P. Reuther Friday called for federal legislation to force most employers to pay double time for overtime worked beyond 40 hours a week.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, declared that such a change in the wage - hour law would tend to create more jobs by increasing the cost of overtime.

Too many employers, he said, prefer to pay the existing time-and-a-half premium to workers on the payroll rather than hire additional men and incur added expense for their vacations, pensions and other fringe benefits.

The new spread-the-work proposal was unveiled in Reuther's keynote address to 2,800 delegates at the opening session of the UAW's 18th convention.

Reuther also urged President Kennedy to fight harder to gain congressional approval of administration programs designed to slash heavy unemployment.

Generally, however, he praised Kennedy's performance in both foreign and domestic fields in a 70-minute talk that stressed UAW concern over the nation's 4.4 million jobless. The President will speak at the convention Tuesday.

Reuther renewed his call for a flexible work week that would be shortened during periods of heavy unemployment and then brought up what he termed "obsolete overtime provisions.

"It's morally wrong to work excessive overtime in plants when millions of workers are denied the right to work one hour a week in America," he said. Government figures indicate the average factory hand put in 2.6 hours of overtime in March.

Aides of the UAW leader said the union also would demand double-time pay for overtime in contract negotiations with management.

They contended that it would not necessarily raise labor costs since the companies could avoid paying the premium by hiring enough workers to operate at a 40-hour week.

Youths Hang Up Son With Wire, Parents Assert

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The parents of a Walker high school student told the State-Times Friday their son received leg and groin injuries when other students strung him up with coathanger wire by the heels.

Mrs. T. J. Dedeaux of the town 15 miles east of Baton Rouge, said her husband sat on his porch Thursday night with a shotgun to "defend his family from carloads of boys who are driving up in our driveway and down our street shouting threats."

The newspaper said the secretary of a Denham Springs physician, Dr. Clarence E. Walker, confirmed Lanny Dedeaux was examined and treated and referred to a bone specialist in Baton Rou for X-rays.

Noel Wilkins, principal of the school, and Reed Barnett, janitor, denied any such incident happened last Thursday or Friday.

FOR ALGERIANS

French To Speed Independence Vote

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's government, alarmed by continued bloodshed in Algeria, announced Friday it has decided to speed independence for the North African territory regardless of violence by European terrorists there.

Reliable political sources said the referendum, in which the Algerian population will vote on whether it wants independence, will be held around mid-July.

The government also announced it has agreed on drastic new measures to crush the European Secret Army (OAS) and to halt sabotage of the six-week-old Algerian peace settlement by mutinous European civil servants in Algeria.

Government spokesmen refused to say what these steps were. But France's high commissioner announced in a broadcast Thursday night that any civil servants who continue to disobey or resist orders will be fired and deported immediately to France.

The government's new tough stand was revealed after Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe delivered a report to a three-hour cabinet meeting presided over Friday morning by De Gaulle himself.

A communique published afterward said the government is determined to apply the March 18 Evian peace settlement in its entirety and to adhere strictly to the timetable for independence provided in it.

Under the Evian agreement, the referendum must take place within three to six months after the cease-fire. The six-month period expires Sept. 19.

This interim period was designed to permit restoration of law and order in Algeria. But the OAS, in a desperate struggle against establishment of a Moslem dominated Algerian republic, has kept up a reign of terror in which nearly 2,500 have been killed and more than 5,200 wounded since the cease-fire March 19.

NASA Official Gives Lecture At Convocation

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Walter Williams, associate director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for manned space craft, said Friday there is almost unlimited challenge in translation of space age products to modern living uses.

Williams, 1938 graduate of Louisiana State University, told the LSU spring convocation the United States' space program is "dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge."

The program, he said, will pay off in three categories—direct national resources, direct and indirect consumer benefits and national prestige and morale.

Williams said the inherent challenge in the space program is directly involved in pioneering aspects. He said this included not only pilots but the many who "conceive, design and supervise the manufacture and operation of space age systems."

The most significant national resource produced by Project Mercury, Williams said, "is the management capability for the conduct of these kind of fantastically complex technical programs."

WEST MONROE GROUP

Study Is Planned On Compensation

Proposed changes in Louisiana's Workmen's Compensation laws will come under study by the Legislative Committee of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Bert Hatten, committee chairman, has called a meeting for 10 a.m. in the WMCC office at the First National Bank building.

Monroe's Chamber Legislative Committee, under direction of chairman Fred Fudickar, plans to set up a similar study session on the changes, and will make recommendations to the Chamber membership at large.

"At least 20 large, well-organized groups which operate in Louisiana are proposing these changes in the law," Hatten said Friday. "My committee wants to study the suggestions and also wants to give heed to those other groups who oppose any changes in the law.

"After very careful study of these two conflicting opinions, we hope to be in a position to make some recommendations to the Chamber Board of Directors."

He pointed out that the West Monroe Chamber is "anxious to lend its support to measures which will benefit our community and nation.

"By the same token, we stand ready to help defeat any piece of legislation that leans toward socialism."

Eight major changes are proposed in the law:

1. Compensation payments for injuries producing temporary total disability, permanent total disability, permanent total disability and-or partial disability would be restricted to disability to do and perform any reasonable work, whether it be the same kind the employee was doing at the time of his injury or not.

2. Compensation for a hernia sustained at work be limited to maximum of 26 weeks, plus medical cost for operation: and be limited to 13 weeks plus maximum of $500 lump sum payment if the employee refuses to have an operation.

3. If an employee has an injury which aggravates an existing condition or "sustains the accidental loss of a member after having previously sustained the loss of another member with a resulting permanent and total disability or increase in the percentage of permanent partial disability" he may receive compensation only for the second injury.

4. Amount of compensation payments and claims settlements by insurers and employers would be filed and maintained by a Central State Agency for statistical and reference purposes, with public records.

5. Any court approving a claim settlement must have proof that the insured employer knows of the proposed settlement before the date of actual settlement.

6. Change in definition of "accident" and Right of Joint Action.

7. Change in definition of "prescription."

8. A copy of the judgment certified by the Clerk of Court shall be mailed by the Court clerk to the Central State Reporting Agency.

Cattle Deaths Investigated By Specialists

The identity of a poison causing the deaths of 31 cattle in a herd near Monroe recently, remained a mystery following an on - the - spot investigation Friday by state and federal specialists from Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi.

However, a report issued following the checkup on the Bill Watson cattle farm located about halfway between Monroe and Sterlington, eliminated several agricultural chemicals as possibilities.

The report said, "A general agreement was reached that treatment of adjoining areas for fire ant control could not have been the cause."

Dr. H. B. Elliott of the Diagnostic Laboratory of the State Department of Agriculture, Baton Rouge, said, "We have now eliminated all logical poisons found in our experience in Louisiana which can be confirmed in post mortems, pasture observations or in tests in our diagnostic laboratories.

"HEAVY METALS"

"These are heavy metals, such as arsenic, lead, and similar chemicals, ntirate and nitrite, and seasonal poisonous plants. Infections were readily ruled out early in the trouble."

The cattle became ill about two weeks ago, and the first deaths occurred the day following initial appearance of sympogms. Most of the cattle were white face steers.

Following this samples of grass, feed, water and other elements to which animals had access were sent to the state laboratory at Baton Rouge for analsis.

The investigators said that chemical analysis of tissues of thee dead cattle collected on three previous occasions failed to show even a trace of heptachlor or other hydrocarbons. The analysis was performed by Dr. E. E. Epps, state chemist with the Department of Agriculture, Baton Rouge.

Taking part in Friday's meeting here were Dr. Elliott; Dr. B. B. Vail, Monroe area veterinarian; Dr. A. G. Pass, Animal Disease Eradication Division, Agricultural Research Service, Baton Rouge; C. C. Fancher, regional supervisor, Plant Pest Control, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Gulfport, Miss.; R. N. Dobson Jr., state supervisor, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Baton Rouge; A. C. Copeland, Plant Pest Control Division, Agriculture Research Service, West Monroe, and Dr. R. D. Radeleff, Toxicology Research Laboratory, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Kerrville, Texas.

The specialists said that "fire ants hills were present on the premises, filled with hot tempered ants, indicating that no ant poison had been applied. The adjoining, treated, premises showed numerous dead hills of ants and no live hills were observed."

The investigators reported further, "The true cause of the cattle losses has not yet been determined. Numerous additional samples from the cattle and the premises have been taken and will be studied."

Youth Shoots Self At Grave Of Sweetheart

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — A teen-age schoolboy shot and critically wounded himself Friday at the grave of his sweetheart, killed in an auto accident last weekend.

William Wood, 17, drove a mile and a half from Oak Hill Cemetery to a filling station after shooting himself twice in the chest with a .22 caliber rifle.

He had been missing, along with an uncle's car, since Thursday morning, the day after his girl friend, Norma Mae Wey, 17, Riley, Ind., was buried.

Wood was brought to St. Anthony's Hospital, where his condition was reported critical from loss of blood.

Police said a note to his mother, Mrs. Raymond Adams of Terre Haute, said he had left a recording explaining why he wanted to kill himself.

Both boy and girl were pupils in Terre Haute Gerstmeyer High School.

The girl was killed last Saturday afternoon when her car skidded and hit a tree.

DECLINES EXAMINATION

LONDON (UPI) — Magistrate Seymour Collins declined Friday to examine the bruised knee of actress Valentia Gordikova and suggested she submit a medical report instead.

"I don't want to see your legs, madam," he said.

Miss Gordikova claimed police inflicted the bruise. Collins thought different. He fined her $5.60 for being drunk and disorderly.

WEST MONROE GROUP

Study Is Planned On Compensation

Proposed changes in Louisiana's Workmen's Compensation laws will come under study by the Legislative Committee of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Bert Hatten, committee chairman, has called a meeting for 10 a.m. in the WMCC office at the First National Bank building.

Monroe's Chamber Legislative Committee, under direction of chairman Fred Fudickar, plans to set up a similar study session on the changes, and will make recommendations to the Chamber membership at large.

"At least 20 large, well-organized groups which operate in Louisiana are proposing these changes in the law," Hatten said Friday. "My committee wants to study the suggestions and also wants to give heed to those other groups who oppose any changes in the law.

"After very careful study of these two conflicting opinions, we hope to be in a position to make some recommendations to the Chamber Board of Directors."

He pointed out that the West Monroe Chamber is "anxious to lend its support to measures which will benefit our community and nation.

"By the same token, we stand ready to help defeat any piece of legislation that leans toward socialism."

Eight major changes are proposed in the law:

1. Compensation payments for injuries producing temporary total disability, permanent total disability, permanent total disability and-or partial disability would be restricted to disability to do and perform any reasonable work, whether it be the same kind the employee was doing at the time of his injury or not.

2. Compensation for a hernia sustained at work be limited to maximum of 26 weeks, plus medical cost for operation; and be limited to 13 weeks plus maximum of $500 lump sum payment if the employee refuses to have an operation.

3. If an employee has an injury which aggravates an existing condition or "sustains the accidental loss of a member after having previously sustained the loss of another member with a resulting permanent and total disability or increase in the percentage of permanent partial disability" he may receive compensation only for the second injury.

4. Amount of compensation payments and claims settlements by insurers and employers would be filed and maintained by a Central State Agency for statistical and reference purposes, with public records.

5. Any court approving a claim settlement must have proof that the insured employer knows of the proposed settlement before the date of actual settlement.

6. Change in definition of "accident" and Right of Joint Action.

7. Change in definition of "prescription."

8. A copy of the judgment certified by the Clerk of Court shall be mailed by the Court clerk to the Central State Reporting Agency.

Cattle Deaths Investigated By Specialists

The identity of a poison causing the deaths of 31 cattle in a herd near Monroe recently, remained a mystery following an on-the-spot investigation Friday by state and federal specialists from Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi.

However, a report issued following the checkup on the Bill Watson cattle farm located about halfway between Monroe and Sterlington, eliminated several agricultural chemicals as possibilities.

The report said, "A general agreement was reached that treatment of adjoining areas for fire ant control could not have been the cause."

Dr. H. B. Elliott of the Diagnostic Laboratory of the State Department of Agriculture, Baton Rouge, said, "We have now eliminated all logical poisons found in our experience in Louisiana which can be confirmed in post mortems, pasture observations or in tests in our diagnostic laboratories.

"HEAVY METALS"

"These are heavy metals, such as arsenic, lead, and similar chemicals, ntirate and nitrite, and seasonal poisonous plants. Infections were readily ruled out early in the trouble."

The cattle became ill about two weeks ago, and the first deaths occurred the day following initial appearance of sympogms. Most of the cattle were white face steers.

Following this samples of grass, feed, water and other elements to which animals had access were sent to the state laboratory at Baton Rouge for analsis.

The investigators said that chemical analysis of tissues of thee dead cattle collected on three previous occasions failed to show even a trace of heptachlor or other hydrocarbons. The analysis was performed by Dr. E. E. Epps, state chemist with the Department of Agriculture, Baton Rouge.

Taking part in Friday's meeting here were Dr. Elliott; Dr. B. B. Vail, Monroe area veterinarian; Dr. A. G. Pass, Animal Disease Eradication Division, Agricultural Research Service, Baton Rouge; C. C. Fancher, regional supervisor, Plant Pest Control, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Gulfport, Miss.; R. N. Dobson Jr., state supervisor, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Baton Rouge; A. C. Copeland, Plant Pest Control Division, Agriculture Research Service, West Monroe, and Dr. R. D. Radeleff, Toxicology Research Laboratory, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Kerrville, Texas.

The specialists said that "fire ants hills were present on the premises, filled with hot tempered ants, indicating that no ant poison had been applied. The adjoining, treated, premises showed numerous dead hills of ants and no live hills were observed."

The investigators reported further, "The true cause of the cattle losses has not yet been determined. Numerous additional samples from the cattle and the premises have been taken and will be studied."

Youth Shoots Self At Grave Of Sweetheart

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — A teen-age schoolboy shot and critically wounded himself Friday at the grave of his sweetheart, killed in an auto accident last weekend.

William Wood, 17, drove a mile and a half from Oak Hill Cemetery to a filling station after shooting himself twice in the chest with a .22 caliber rifle.

He had been missing, along with an uncle's car, since Thursday morning, the day after his girl friend, Norma Mae Wey, 17, Riley, Ind., was buried.

Wood was brought to St. Anthony's Hospital, where his condition was reported critical from loss of blood.

Police said a note to his mother, Mrs. Raymond Adams of Terre Haute, said he had left a recording explaining why he wanted to kill himself.

Both boy and girl were pupils in Terre Haute Gerstmeyer High School.

The girl was killed last Saturday afternoon when her car skidded and hit a tree.

DECLINES EXAMINATION

LONDON (UPI) — Magistrate Seymour Collins declined Friday to examine the bruised knee of actress Valentia Gordikova and suggested she submit a medical report instead.

"I don't want to see your legs, madam," he said.

Three Freed On Bond In Miami Plots

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Three men charged in Miami bombing plots were freed on bond Friday and authorities indicated more arrests were forthcoming.

"This is just the beginning" of a crackdown on persons allegedly plotting a "reign of terror" in the Miami area, State Atty. Richard Gerstein said.

Charged with the Feb. 18 bombing of the home of Don Shoemaker, editor of the Miami Herald, was Donald Branch, 25, city water meter reader. He was released on $25,000 bond. No one was injured in the bombing.

Branch and the others held also were charged in Dade County Criminal Court with possessing and transporting explosives.

Gerstein said evidence had been uncovered that dynamiting of the home of William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami News, was planned by the alleged terrorists. In addition, Gerstein said, there was evidence that he himself was a target for assassination.

The prosecutor said those held called themselves members of an organization known as "Minute Men." But Frederic Kibbe, of Fort Lauderdale, organizer of the Florida Minute Men, said the three men were not associated with his group.

Held with Branch and freed under $15,000 bond each were Mike Babey, 37, also a meter reader, and George Victer, about 50, an electrician and foe of integration.

The arrests came after police had watched suspects for two months. A policeman, Stefan Plumacher, 26, infiltrated the group to break the case.

Gerstein reported police found four high-powered rifles, a Luger pistol, about 300 rounds of ammunition and homemade hand grenades in Branch's home. Also seized there, he said, were leaflets including one titled "The American Nazi Party."

MOTHER IS VICTIM

Youth, 18, Faces Charge In Slaying

ALLEGAN, Mich. (AP)—An 18-year-old high school science whiz faced a murder charge Friday in the gun-shot death and bizarre burial of his mother.

Allegan County Prosecutor Ervin L. Andrews planned to authorize the warrant after questioning of the youth, William J. Warner, was completed at the county jail.

The body of Marie E. Warner, 46, shot twice through the head and jammed into a steamer trunk, was recovered Friday from the Kalamazoo River about half a mile upstream from Saugatuck.

The trunk was weighted with sand to make it sink. It was found off the edge of a summer cottage pier where the youth had led police late Thursday.

Mrs. Warner had been reported missing April 26 by her son, an only child.

Saugatuck Police Chief Jerry Kok said he had no reason at first to disbelieve William's story that Mrs. Warner had eloped and planned to settle in South America. A signature purported to be hers was found on a note to that effect in the five-room frame cottage she had shared the past year with her son at East Saugatuck.

State police Detective Charles Long obtained an admission from the youth that the signature was a forgery.

The youth finally told of an argument with his mother over his plans to restore an old car.

The next evening, upon Mrs. Warner's return from work, the argument resumed. Young Warner said his mother came at him with a knife and he knocked it from her hand, firing his 22-caliber rifle at her as she turned.

Warner left the cottage and joined two schoolmates to go to a movie, Long said. He was quoted as saying he returned later, drove the body to a pier, returned with the trunk and shoved it with its contents into the river.

Warner stayed at the home of a friend since the slaying. He has attended classes at the school where last month he won a regional science fair first prize with a display of home-built rockets. It was to have won him an expense-paid trip under U.S. Navy sponsorship later this year.

The prosecutor said the boy claimed only faint recollection of his late father, a marine engineer. The parents were divorced while he was a preschooler. He told authorities his mother sent him to boarding school for the first eight grades, visiting him only once a month.

They moved from Chicago to the Saugatuck area a year ago.

The mother's survivors include a sister, Mrs. Joseph Jurinek and a brother, John L. Podoba, both of Chicago.

PLAN SUB SQUAD

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's first postwar submarine squadron will be put into service in August, the defense agency said Friday. The squadron will have four ships and one rescue vessel.

Ike Will Meet GOP Leaders On Estes Case

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower agreed Friday to return to the political arena for a Capitol Hill appearance expected to draw him more closely into Republican demands for a wider investigation of Agriculture Department financial operations.

GOP congressional leaders, who got Eisenhower's endorsement of their demand Thursday, announced that the former President would meet with them next Thursday. He will hold a news conference afterward.

The GOP leaders pegged their investigation demand on the government grain storage case involving Texas millionaire Billie Sol Estes. Estes is under indictment in Texas on fraud charges.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., recognized that any inquiry might reach into the Eisenhower administration years—a point to be stressed by Democrats — but said "let it reach."

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., whose investigations subcommittee already is conducting a preliminary inquiry into the Estes case, said his group may hold public hearings in about a month. He said it would not be "stampeded" into hurrying by the Republicans.

Students Tour Vicksburg Park

Social studies teacher Mrs. Marie Morrison led 39 students through the Vicksburg Military Park as part of their study of the Civil War in American history. The group returned late Friday.

The eighth graders will see New Orleans and Baton Rouge in connection with their course in the history of Louisiana before returning late Sunday.

Site Of Winn Construction Picket Scene

Work on the planned $750,000 structure, scheduled for completion Nov. 1, has been brought to a virtual standstill.

Some laborers, who are not members of the local, crossed the line Wednesday and Thursday.

L. H. Himel, business agent for Local 1229 of Alexandria said the local is picketing because "the contractor refuses to work men who are members of Labor Local 1229 and who live in Winnfield.

"The contractor is not paying the prevailing wage rate and the men he is bringing in from other places are being paid substandard wages which is in complete violation of a signed contract."

The contractor is Rannie Terral.

Fudickar Named Head Of Board

The Monroe Housing Authority Board elected Fred Fudickar Jr., chairman and R. Dean Farr Sr., vice chairman Thursday in its annual meeting.

Fudickar, a former chairman and board member since 1949, succeeded Joseph S. Amman, who was commended for his "interest and understanding of housing problems."

Board members serve voluntarily.

SHUFFLE STREET SIGNS

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Anyone following street signs in this city is in trouble—bands of youths have mixed them all up. They pried loose the neat blue and white signs, shuffled them and replaced every sign. The reason's to confuse the mobile gendarmes, the unpopular security force.

Site Of Winn Construction Picket Scene

Work on the planned $750,000 structure, scheduled for completion Nov. 1, has been brought to a virtual standstill.

Some laborers, who are not members of the local, crossed the line Wednesday and Thursday

L. H. Himel, business agent for Local 1229 of Alexandria said the local is picketing because "the contractor refuses to work men who are members of Labor Local 1229 and who live in Winnfield.

"The contractor is not paying the prevailing wage rate and the men he is bringing in from other places are being paid substandard wages which is in complete violation of a signed contract."

The contractor is Rannie Terral.

SHUFFLE STREET SIGNS

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Anyone following street signs in this city is in trouble—bands of youths have mixed them all up. They pried loose the neat blue and white signs, shuffled them and replaced every sign. The reason's to confuse the mobile gendarmes, the unpopular security force.

Tax Increase Opposed By Most Solons

a 17 - member legislative budget study committee in March. And in late April, the governor reportedly balked at a suggestion of a one - year sales tax hike as a means of easing the financial situation.

Here are the views expressed by the legislators here Friday concerning the financial situation:

Sen. W. T. Carpenter, Bastrop (29th District) — "I definitely don't think we will have a sales tax. We may have to do some belt tightening, but I fell that we will work out the situation.

"We are on a high plateau of spending, and we have to get the outgo, or expenditures, in line with the income."

Carpenter expressed strong opposition to deficit spending, adding that "I believe in a balanced budget."

"We may have to go along with deficit spending this year in order to take care of our obligations, but deficit spending is not a healthy situation," Carpenter declared. "I think the idea of a budget committee is good, because we need a thorough study of the proposed budgets by the various state agencies."

Carpenter also took opposition to budgeting anticipated revenue from oil and gas leases.

'DON'T KNOW'

"I don't think the oil lease revenue should be budgeted because we don't know if we are going to get it," he declared. "If we left it out of the budget, then we could use this revenue toward paying off some of the state's bonded indebtedness."

Carpenter's reference was to the fact that state fiscal officers had budgeted $27 - million this fiscal year from the oil and gas lease source. However, bids accepted by the Louisiana Mineral Board in April on oil and gas leases for the state - owned lands a mounted to only $12.8-million.

Rep. Lantz Womack, Winnsboro (Franklin Parish) — "I don't anticipate a sales tax. And I have no idea as to whether or not one is being conducted.

"I think in lieu of additional taxes that our answer is to start cutting out all unnecessary expenditures. I think that we will have to continue to operate with a deficit, but we should gradually reduce that deficit and try to wipe it out in a period of two or three years."

Rep. L. D. Napper, Ruston (Lincoln Parish) — "I don't feel that a sales tax will be introduced. I know that I would be against any taxation, period.

"I believe that we will be able to come out of the financial situation we are in without any additional taxation, although it might mean reductions in appropriations for some of our state agencies.

OVERESTIMATE

"The situation was brought about by overestimating our anticipate revenue for this fiscal year. Consequently, we adopted a budget that was excessive.

"The legislature now will have to adopt a budget that will allow us to take care of part of the deficit we are now experiencing, and it will have to be a budget that we can live with for the next fiscal year. And I think it can be done. We will just have to buckle down and work something out, but I don't think it will be a sales tax."

Rep. Mike John Jr., Monroe (Ouachita Parish) — "I have faith and confidence that the governor, division of administration and the legislative budget committee will come up with a practical and workable solution to our state debt.

"I don't think the deficit will run as high as the $75 - million that has been predicted. And I don't believe that increased taxes is the solution to our problem.

"I do feel that practical economy combined with increased business activity in the state will bring us within the framework of a balanced budget without additional taxes. I definitely am opposed to a sales tax and will oppose it if one is introduced."

Rep. I. J. Allen, Jonesboro (Jackson Parish) — "I think we will solve the financial situation. I am hopeful of a settlement on the tidelands, although I don't believe we will get as much money as some expect. As to our financial problem, I think that the governor and the legislature can work out the situation."

Allen, who has been a member of the legislature for 12 years, also predicted that "this session will be one of the most interesting we have had in several years."

Rep. Ed Rand, Alexandria (Rapides Parish) — "The state is not unlike any family situation where the outgo exceeds the income. We simply must close the gap in outgo or increase the income.

"I think the governor had a golden opportunity two years ago to realize the situation facing the state. But the advice he received at that time was inadequate. Because of the advice of the governor's advisors and the recession in revenue, our present situation developed as the outgo (expenditures) continued to grow larger.

"Now, we have reached the point where something has to be worked out to solve the financial situation."

Louisiana To Get Wildlife Funds

By B. N. TIMMONS
World Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Federal funds totaling $182,657 will be made available to Louisiana on July 1 for fish and wildlife restoration projects carried out in fiscal 1963, Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall announced Friday.

The Secretary said the state is slated to receive $24,700 for federally approved fish restoration projects and $157,957 for wildlife projects.

The funds are from a total preliminary apportionment of $12,350,000 — $9,850,000 for wildlife and $2,500,000 for fish — available to the states under the Federal Fish and Wildlife restoration programs. Udall said the balance of the aid funds for fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, will be apportioned this fall.

OWN FUNDS

The Secretary said early apportionment is being made again this year to help states program their federal aid activities more advantageously. Under the program, states spend their own funds on approved projects and are reimbursed up to 75 per cent of the cost. The preliminary apportionment makes it possible for states to secure approval for projects to be started early in fiscal 1963, which begins July 1, and claim their reimbursement promptly. Otherwise, claims would be held up until the regular apportionment during the fall of this year.

The federal aid funds come from the excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and on fishing rods, reels, creels, and artificial lures. Distribution of the two funds is made on formulas based on the number of paid license holders in a state and the state's area, as prescribed by law.

The Interior Department did not indicate the possible total apportionment for fiscal 1963, but in the past five years wildlife restoration funds have been between $14 and $15.5 million and fish restoration funds have totaled approximately $5 million.

The preliminary apportionment available July 1, 1961 was $12,350,000 — half a million dollars more than the advance apportionment for fiscal 1963.

Parish To Gain Timber Revenue

Financial benefits from the Tupelo gum and cypress trees of Cheniere Lake will begin flowing into the Ouachita Parish treasury after May 15, 1966, it was reported Friday.

Police Jury President M. W. Montgomery and ward five Juror Leslie Hamm said this after the announcement that the Detroit, Mich., owners of the trees had sold them to W. B. Nelson of Cheniere Station. Nelson paid $31,000 for the harvest-size timber.

By 1966, however, the timber in the lake will belong to the parish which it will sell as it reaches market size.

When the parish purchased the lake it allowed Dixie Lumber Company to retain the timber rights through 1966.

Next Manned Space Ship To Pull Balloon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Astronaut John Glenn disclosed Friday night that America's next manned space craft will pull a balloon through the edge of space to see how much drag is exerted on it.

He said the flight, to be made later this month by Mercury pilot M. Scott Carpenter, also will carry a transparent tank of liquid so the astronaut can observe the behavior of liquid in weightlessness.

Glenn made the disclosure at the taping of a television discussion with Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Anatoly Blagonravov, Russia's top space scientist. The one-hour program will be aired beginning at 6:30 p.m. EDT, Sunday.

Titov and Blagonravov did not say what type of space project the Soviet Union will undertake next. But both said it was important that the United States and Russia cooperate in space, particularly in the communications and weather fields.

Glenn gave no details of the balloon and liquid experiments. But he did, however, say that Carpenter's capsule will be equipped with cameras to photograph clouds which might be useful in the weather satellite program.

POINT PLEASANT, N.J. (UPI) —A surgeon sought more support Friday for his revolt against President Kennedy's medical care for the aged program, heartened by its acceptance at four New Jersey hospitals.

Dr. J. Bruce Henriksen reported that more than 250 doctors at the four hospitals had signed his petitions against the King-Anderson medical care bill.

Signers of the petitions vowed not to treat patients under terms of the bill, which ties medical care for the elderly to the Social Security program, should it pass Congress.

Henriksen, resident surgeon here since 1933, said the petition signing should not be interpreted as a doctors' strike.

"We will continue to treat patients as we always have," Henriksen said. "If they can't pay their bills out of their own pockets or through insurance, then we will treat them free. We just refuse to do it under the King-Anderson bill."

Henriksen said that if doctors throughout the country vowed in advance not to treat patients under the presidentally backed bill, it could not be implemented even if it passed.

Officials at the four hospitals where doctors have signed the petition emphasized that they were acting on their own.

Resolutions were posted on bulletin boards and signed by staff doctors at Point Pleasant Hospital, at Orange Memorial Hospital, at Toms River Community Hospital, and Newark's Beth Israel Hospital.

At Newark's Beth Israel Hospital—where trustees have endorsed President Kennedy's medicare program—Henriksen said he understood about 100 doctors had signed his resolution. Officials at the hospital said they believed "several" had signed it.

All 86 staff doctors at Point Pleasant signed the petition, about a dozen at Toms River agreed with Henriksen, and an estimated 50 signed it at Orange Memorial.

Henriksen's revolt drew sharp criticism from the New Jersey state AFL-CIO. Its president, Vincent J. Murphy, called the petitions "disgraceful" and a "vicious scheme."

"The Henriksen resolution, which proposed a boycott against humanity, is adding greatly to the already rapid decline of the profession in public esteem," Murphy wired Dr. Ralph Buchanan, president of the Medical Society of New Jersey.

The Group Health Association of America, which favors the Kennedy program, called the petitions "irresponsible" and "incredible."

Gresham Youth Said Critical After Surgery

The 11 - year - old son of Mrs. Pauline Gresham, formerly of Monroe was reported Friday by his grandmother here as in "very critical" condition after undergoing delicate heart surgery at the Children's Hospital in Oakland, Calif.

Young Gerald Gresham has been afflicted since birth with what is described as a "divided heart condition." Doctors have held out little hope to the family for his recovery and recently ruled immediate surgery his only chance for survival.

His maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Lou Wade, 1217 S. 2nd St., said Friday night the youngster was on the critical list in Oakland and a call had been sent out for 45 pints of blood.

Many Twin City donors have volunteered to help replace the blood in the bank there, she added, but the St. Francis Hospital is not a participant on a "clearing house" program with the Oakland institution.

The clearing house system credits blood donated in various cities to the accounts of hospitals in other cities, as needed.

The delicate nature of young Gerald's ailment had delayed the decision to operate for a number of years, Mrs. Wade said.

THE STREET PROGRAM—
PROGRESS or POLITICS?

It should now be obvious to everyone that West Monroe's street program is not so much a municipal improvement as it is a political move designed to assist the incumbent mayor's campaign for re-election.

Although the contract was signed more than one year ago, CALLING FOR COMPLETION IN 90 DAYS, little work has been done until recent weeks. Particularly since the first primary.

Anyone can see that the work was timed to fool the voters into believing that this is the type of attention they will miss if the present mayor is not re-elected. WHY DIDN'T OUR STREETS GET THIS SAME ATTENTION FOR THE PAST 8 YEARS?

A majority of the residents on some streets, Vernon for example, secured a much lower price from a local contractor to rebuild their street. However, they were denied this saving by being forced to accept the city's more expensive project, costing the taxpayers many thousands of dollars.

I OBJECT TO BEING FORCED TO HELP FINANCE A $349,387.28 CAMPAIGN TO RE-ELECT THE INCUMBENT MAYOR! !

a 17 - member legislative budget study committee in March. And in late April, the governor reportedly balked at a suggestion of a one - year sales tax hike as a means of easing the financial situation.

Here are the views expressed by the legislators here Friday concerning the financial situation:

Sen. W. T. Carpenter, Bastrop (29th District) — "I definitely don't think we will have a sales tax. We may have to do some belt tightening, but I fell that we will work out the situation.

"We are on a high plateau of spending, and we have to get the outgo, or expenditures, in line with the income."

Carpenter expressed strong opposition to deficit spending, adding that "I believe in a balanced budget."

"We may have to go along with deficit spending this year in order to take care of our obligations, but deficit spending is not a healthy situation," Carpenter declared. "I think the idea of a budget committee is good, because we need a thorough study of the proposed budgets by the various state agencies."

Carpenter also took opposition to budgeting anticipated revenue from oil and gas leases.

'DON'T KNOW'

"I don't think the oil lease revenue should be budgeted because we don't know if we are going to get it," he declared. "If we left it out of the budget, then we could use this revenue toward paying off some of the state's bonded indebtedness."

Carpenter's reference was to the fact that state fiscal officers had budgeted $27 - million this fiscal year from the oil and gas lease source. However, bids accepted by the Louisiana Mineral Board in April on oil and gas leases for the state - owned lands a mounted to only $12.8-million.

Rep. Lantz Womack, Winnsboro (Franklin Parish) — "I don't anticipate a sales tax. And I have no idea as to whether or not one is being conducted.

"I think in lieu of additional taxes that our answer is to start cutting out all unnecessary expenditures. I think that we will have to continue to operate with a deficit, but we should gradually reduce that deficit and try to wipe it out in a period of two or three years."

Rep. L. D. Napper, Ruston (Lincoln Parish) — 'I don't feel that a sales tax will be introduced. I know that I would be against any taxation, period.

"I believe that we will be able to come out of the financial situation we are in without any additional taxation, although it might mean reductions in appropriations for some of our state agencies.

OVERESTIMATE

"The situation was brought about by overestimating our anticipate revenue for this fiscal year. Consequently, we adopted a budget that was excessive.

"The legislature now will have to adopt a budget that will allow us to take care of part of the deficit we are now experiencing, and it will have to be a budget that we can live with for the next fiscal year. And I think it can be done. We will just have to buckle down and work something out, but I don't think it will be a sales tax."

Rep. Mike John Jr., Monroe (Ouachita Parish) — "I have faith and confidence that the governor, division of administration and the legislative budget committee will come up with a practical and workable solution to our state debt.

"I don't think the deficit will run as high as the $75 - million that has been predicted. And I don't believe that increased taxes is the solution to our problem.

"I do feel that practical economy combined with increased business activity in the state will bring us within the framework of a balanced budget without additional taxes. I definitely am opposed to a sales tax and will oppose it if one is introduced."

Rep. I. J. Allen, Jonesboro (Jackson Parish) — "I think we will solve the financial situation. I am hopeful of a settlement on the tidelands, although I don't believe we will get as much money as some expect. As to our financial problem, I think that the governor and the legislature can work out the situation."

Allen, who has been a member of the legislature for 12 years, also predicted that "this session will be one of the most interesting we have had in several years."

Rep. Ed Rand, Alexandria (Rapides Parish) — "The state is not unlike any family situation where the outgo exceeds the income. We simply must close the gap in outgo or increase the income.

"I think the governor had a golden opportunity two years ago to realize the situation facing the state. But the advice he received at that time was inadequate. Because of the advice of the governor's advisors and the recession in revenue, our present situation developed as the outgo (expenditures) continued to grow larger.

"Now, we have reached the point where something has to be worked out to solve the financial situation."

Louisiana To Get Wildlife Funds

By B. N. TIMMONS
World Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Federal funds totaling $182,657 will be made available to Louisiana on July 1 for fish and wildlife restoration projects carried out in fiscal 1963, Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall announced Friday.

The Secretary said the state is slated to receive $24,700 for federally approved fish restoration projects and $157,957 for wildlife projects.

The funds are from a total preliminary apportionment of $12,350,000 — $9,850,000 for wildlife and $2,500,000 for fish — available to the states under the Federal Fish and Wildlife restoration programs. Udall said the balance of the aid funds for fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, will be apportioned this fall.

OWN FUNDS

The Secretary said early apportionment is being made again this year to help states program their federal aid activities more advantageously. Under the program, states spend their own funds on approved projects and are reimbursed up to 75 per cent of the cost. The preliminary apportionment makes it possible for states to secure approval for projects to be started early in fiscal 1963, which begins July 1, and claim their reimbursement promptly. Otherwise, claims would be held up until the regular apportionment during the fall of this year.

The federal aid funds come from the excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and on fishing rods, reels, creels, and artificial lures. Distribution of the two funds is made on formulas based on the number of paid license holders in a state and the state's area, as prescribed by law.

The Interior Department did not indicate the possible total apportionment for fiscal 1963, but in the past five years wildlife restoration funds have been between $14 and $15.5 million and fish restoration funds have totaled approximately $5 million.

The preliminary apportionment available July 1, 1961 was $12,850,000 — half a million dollars more than the advance apportionment for fiscal 1963.

Parish To Gain Timber Revenue

Financial benefits from the Tupelo gum and cypress trees of Cheniere Lake will begin flowing into the Ouachita Parish treasury after May 15, 1966, it was reported Friday.

Police Jury President M. W. Montgomery and ward five Juror Leslie Hamm said this after the announcement that the Detroit, Mich., owners of the trees had sold them to W. B. Nelson of Cheniere Station. Nelson paid $31,000 for the harvest-size timber.

By 1966, however, the timber in the lake will belong to the parish, which it will sell as it reaches market size.

When the parish purchased the lake it allowed Dixie Lumber Company to retain the timber rights through 1966.

Next Manned Space Ship To Pull Balloon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Astronaut John Glenn disclosed Friday night that American's next manned space craft will pull a ballon through the edge of space to see how much drag is exerted on it.

He said the flight, to be made later this month by Mercury pilot M. Scott Carpenter, also will carry a transparent tank of liquid so the astronaut can observe the behavior of liquid in weightlessness.

Glenn made the disclosure at the taping of a television discussion with Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov; Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Anatoly Blagonravov, Russia's top space scientist. The one hour program will be aired beginning at 6:30 p.m., EDT, Sunday.

Titov and Blagonravov did not say what type of space project the Soviet Union will undertake next. But both said it was important that the United States and Russia cooperate in space, particularly in the communications and weather fields.

Glenn gave no details of the balloon and liquid experiments. But he did, however, say that Carpenter's capsule will be equipped with cameras to photograph clouds which might be useful in the weather satelelite program.

Four burglaries late Thursday or early Friday netted no more than $25, Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly said Friday.

Only vending machines were disturbed in every instance, after windows had been broken in various parts of the buildings at a service station, 2107 Louisville; Sunbeam Bakery, 1609 Pine; Van Trow Olds Cadillac, 1204 Louisville; and Higdon's Service Station at 18th and Glenmar Streets.

Doctor Seeks New Support Against Bill

POINT PLEASANT, N.J. (UPI) —A surgeon sought more support Friday for his revolt against President Kennedy's medical care for the aged program, heartened by its acceptance at four New Jersey hospitals.

Dr. J. Bruce Henriksen reported that more than 250 doctors at the four hospitals had signed his petitions against the King-Anderson medical care bill.

Signers of the petitions vowed not to treat patients under terms of the bill, which ties medical care for the elderly to the Social Security program, should it pass Congress.

Henriksen, resident surgeon here since 1933, said the petition signing should not be interpreted as a doctors' strike.

"We will continue to treat patients as we always have," Henriksen said. "If they can't pay their bills out of their own pockets or through insurance, then we will treat them free. We just refuse to do it under the King-Anderson bill."

Henriksen said that if doctors throughout the country vowed in advance not to treat patients under the presidentally backed bill, it could not be implemented even if it passed.

Officials at the four hospitals where doctors have signed the petition emphasized that they were acting on their own.

Resolutions were posted on bulletin boards and signed by staff doctors at Point Pleasant Hospital, at Orange Memorial Hospital, at Toms River Community Hospital, and Newark's Beth Israel Hospital.

At Newark's Beth Israel Hospital—where trustees have endorsed President Kennedy's medicare program—Henriksen said he understood about 100 doctors had signed his resolution. Officials at the hospital said they believed "several" had signed it.

All 86 staff doctors at Point Pleasant signed the petition, about a dozen at Toms River agreed with Henriksen, and an estimated 50 signed it at Orange Memorial.

Henriksen's revolt drew sharp criticism from the New Jersey state AFL-CIO. Its president, Vincent J. Murphy, called the petitions "disgraceful" and a "vicious scheme."

"The Henriksen resolution, which proposed a boycott against humanity, is adding greatly to the already rapid decline of the profession in public esteem," Murphy wired Dr. Ralph Buchanan, president of the Medical Society of New Jersey.

The Group Health Association of America, which favors the Kennedy program, called the petitions "irresponsible" and "incredible."

Gresham Youth Said Critical After Surgery

The 11 - year - old son of Mrs. Pauline Gresham, formerly of Monroe was reported Friday by his grandmother here as in "very critical" condition after undergoing delicate heart surgery at the Children's Hospital in Oakland, Calif.

Young Gerald Gresham has been afflicted since birth with what is described as a "divided heart condition." Doctors have held out little hope to the family for his recovery and recently ruled immediate surgery his only chance for survival.

His maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Lou Wade, 1217 S. 2nd St., said Friday night the youngster was on the critical list in Oakland and a call had been sent out for 45 pints of blood.

Many Twin City donors have volunteered to help replace the blood in the bank there, she added, but the St. Francis Hospital is not a participant on a "clearing house" program with the Oakland institution.

The clearing house system credits blood donated in various cities to the accounts of hospitals in other cities, as needed.

The delicate nature of young Gerald's ailment had delayed the decision to operate for a number of years, Mrs. Wade said.

Trio Eliminated From Derby Run

World Of Sports

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fate's lightning struck quickly three times at Churchill Downs Friday and eliminated a trio of top horses from the 88th Kentucky Derby. But the biggest bolt was the astonishing injury which eliminated the favored Sir Gaylord and left big and tough Ridan the 2-1 favorite.

His owners said Sir Gaylord would be retired to stud.

A hairline fracture of the sesamoid bone of the right front leg, sustained during an early morning workout, knocked Sir Gaylord out of the $125,000-added roses run Saturday and shattered the hopes of Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia. His champion filly, Cicada, also was withdrawn, as was the California colt Donut King, leaving 15 to battle over the 1¼ miles, starting at 4:30 p.m. EST.

Chenery was en route to Louisville by rail and didn't know of his misfortune for hours, as the train was 2½ hours late. His trainer, Casey Hayes, already had taken Sir Gaylord out of the classic race for 3-year-olds after Xrays definitely disclosed the injury to his star's leg.

But he couldn't clarify Cicada's status until Chenery's arrival, although time was running short in the greatest pre-Derby drama in more than 30 years. Chenery and Hayes hurried to Sir Gaylord's barn at Churchill Downs, arriving in early afternoon.

Cicada had been entered in the $35,000-added Kentucky Oaks for 3-year-old fillies Friday afternoon. Hayes also had put her in the Derby as insurance against such a mishap that befell Sir Gaylord. Ridan, owned by Mrs. Moody Jolley, had barely beaten Cicada by a nose in the $100,000 Florida Derby on March 31.

"My first inclination was to run her in the Derby," said the crestfallen Chenery at a hastily summoned barnside press conference.

"But now, my decision is 'No,' after conferring on the situation. Cicada had been prepared for the Oaks this afternoon. Her feeding was adjusted to this and it would have been upsetting now to change this.

"Furthermore, she in post position 15 and would be running against colts, which is asking too much. She is a great filly and I want to give her every chance."

Chenery has had two big cracks at the Derby, with Hill Prince running second in 1950 and First Landing finishing third in 1959.

Chenery's difficult decision recalled a 1931 race when favored Equipoise was withdrawn at noon on Derby day because of a cracked hoof. Twenty Grand then won that Derby in record time.

Donut King, a California-bred colt, owned by Verne W. Winchell Jr. of Los Angeles, also was withdrawn. But this didn't come as such a shock. Donut King has been ailing with an infection in the left hind foot. The abscess was opened Friday and drained and the colt will try to make the Preakness May 19 in Baltimore.

Ridan and Sir Gaylord were the heavy favorites for the Derby. Ridan, unbeaten as a 2-year-old, had smashed his field in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland April 26. Last Saturday, Sir Gaylord easily won the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs, after having been laid up with an ankle injury since he beat Ridan handily in the Everglade Stakes Feb. 21 at Hialeah.

With Ridan the new favorite after Sir Gaylord ruled as the early 8-5 favorite, Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County moved into the second spot at 7-2.

Sunrise County finished first in the $100,000 Flamingo at Hialeah but was disqualified for interfering with Ridan. In the Wood Memorial at New York, Sunrise County hit the wire in a dead heat for first with Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, but again was disqualified for bearing out and impeding Hooper's colt.

Sir Ribot, a British-bred colt owned by Fred Turner Jr. of Midland, Tex., and who has raced in California, is the third choice at 6-1.

Admiral's Voyage was quoted at 8-1 in the revised odds line along with El Peco Ranch's Decidedly, who finished second in the Everglades and was runner-up to Ridan in the Blue Grass.

Others in the field are Reverie Knoll Farm's Sharp Count; Mrs. Joe W. Brown's Green Hornet; the J. B. P. Stable's Lee Town; Neal S. McCarthy's Royal Attack; Golden Triangle Stable's Mister Pitt; J. J. Estopinal's Touch Bar; Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan; F & B Farm's Good Fight; Robert Lehman's Prego; and T. A. Grissom's Roman Line.

With 15 starters, the Derby pot will gross $162,150, with the winner collecting $119,650.

A sudden thunderstorm swept over Churchill Downs when the field started for the first race Friday. And if it keeps up an off track is a possibility. The weather man said there was a possibility of showers Friday night and Saturday with a temperature of 84 degrees on Derby afternoon.

In the event of an off track, Mister Pitt, Royal Attack and Sharp Count might be withdrawn. Owners must pay $1,250 to start their horses in the Dereby.

The race will be carried nationally on radio and television (CBS) from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m., EST.

Sir Gaylord's injury was discovered when he was cooling out after a five-eighths of a mile spin. The X rays showed the fracture on the inside of the right front ankle. The same ankle was hurt in the Everglades but lower down and on the outside. Veterinarians said this was "an entirely new injury." The sesamoid is a bone that acts as sort of a shock absorber.

Sir Gaylord will be sent to Chenery's farm, the Meadows, at Doswell, Va., probably on Monday and be retired to stud.

"He too good a horse to try and bring him back and hurt him again," said Chenerey.

Chenery also had to consider his riders. I. Valenzuela has been riding Sir Gaylord but Willie Shoemaker handles Cicada.

"Shoemaker has other Derby commitments (Sunrise County) and we didn't even suggest that he change his plans," said Chenery. "That's the situation and I'm sorry. It's happened to us before and probably will again."

Cepeda Leads Giants Over Chicago, 11-6

CHICAGO (AP) — The not-so-sleepy San Francisco Giants, paced by Ornaldo Cepeda's five RBI on a homer, double and single, slugged out a 10th straight triumph 11-6 over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

The first-place Giants, who got to bed about 5 a.m., Chicago time after plane trouble en route, chased a rival starting pitcher for the 24th time in as many games in providing lefty Billy Pierce with his fourth victory without defeat.

BREAK FIVE MARKS

Tigers Take First In District Meet

An undefeated Neville track team will send several representatives to the State AA Track and Field meet in Lake Charles next Friday after winning the 2-AA District meet in Tiger Stadium Friday night—hands down.

Neville's record making thinclads tallied 102 3-5 points to take the team trophy while strong Ruston and Jonesboro-Hodge teams tied for second place honors with 79 3-5 points each. Haynesville scored 28 ½ points.

The first and second place winners are elgible to travel the state meet with the district's third winner serving as an alternate.

The Tigers took the district title from Ruston for the first time since 1949 in the first district meet ever to be held.

All relay records were bettered by the Neville squad: the 180 low hurdles record fell and John Segars bettered his own discus record.

Kicking off the running events with a bang, at 7 p.m. Don Brant, Freddy Moses, Bunzy Bryant and Mike Wilson combined to speed around the mile relay in record breaking 1:28.7 time. Later, Brant, Moses, Steve Jefferson and Wilson bettered the 400 record by one full second. As if two records weren't enough the team of Bryant, Kurt Guelzow, Wilson and Jimmy Howard shaved more than four seconds from the mile relay record and spanned the distance in 3:26.2, to break a Ruston record standing since 1957.

Tiger Freddie Vogel bounded across the 180 low hurldes in 20.0 to slice three-tenths of a second off a record of 20.3 which had been reached by two Ruston runners.

Because of a second place tie in the 120 high hurdles, Vogel and Ruston's Billy Patterson ran the event again after completion of the meet to determine state qualification. Vogel skipped over the obstacle two-tenths of a second faster the second time than his first attempt to edge out freshman Patterson.

Segars discus hurl of 152-1 bettered his own 1961 mark of 134-0.

Neville will be able to enter at least 13 of the scheduled state events in Lake Charles.

A five way tie for fourth place in the pole vault pushed the meet's scoring columns into fractional measures.

In the field events, Segars' shot put heave made Jonesboro's Robert Marrus take a second place seat by five-eighths of an inch.

Strong in the field, Jonesboro took four first places — Marrus one and Alton Reeves three — while Segars scored Neville's only first in the field. Tommy Parker and Mike Edmunds of Ruston tied for first and second in the high jump with a leap of 5-6.

Reeves threatened the meet's pole vault record of 12-6 going 12-3.

Medals were awarded to first, second and third place winners with Neville walking off with all of the relay trophies and the team trophy.

In the 880 run Richard Bun chans, of oJnesboro, pulled off a last lap come from behind effort to beat Haynesville's Bill Smith by three-tenths of a second. Smith, however, had earlier run the mile in a winning 4:36.3, his best effort of the year.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Brazilian Eder Jofre exploded his devastating punches in the 10th round and stopped challenger Herman Marquez to retain his world bantamweight boxing title Friday night.

Jofre, who failed to get an advantage through the first nine stanzas, floored Marquez midway in the 10th with a combination of lefts and rights. The Stockton, Calif., challenger was up at 5, took an 8-count, but could not stand off a Jofre attack as a flurry of rights put him down again.

Undefeated Indians Take On Demons, 'Dogs Tonight

Northeast's unbeaten track team gets its final chance to tune up for next week's Gulf States Conference meet when it takes on Northwestern and Louisiana Tech, expected to be two of its top opponents in the league roundup, in a triangular meet in Natchitoches tonight.

The meet is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Both Northwestern and Tech were among the top finishers in last Tuesday evening's Northwestern Relays, Northwestern finishing second with 49½ points and Tech fourth with 39½. Northeast was first, for the seventh straight time this year, with 91 points.

Judging from Northwestern Relays results, the pole vault should be the top event in tonight's affair. Northwestern veteran Brent Womack and Northeast freshman star Tommy Edmonson tied for first in the vault with 14-0 while Northwestern freshman Gary Johnson was third and Northeast's Noel Orr and Tech's Bob Goree tied for fourth.

Northeast, for two reasons — Don and Dave Styron — is expected to dominate the sprints and hurdles. Dave Styron was first in the Northwestern Relays century with 9.6 and brother Don took the high hurdles in 13.9 and the lows in 22.5. Both Styrons are undefeated in their specialties this year.

Teammates Jay Goldsmith and Charles McDonald and NSC's Glenn Talbert are rated other top entries in the sprints. Goldsmith was second to Styron Tuesday, Talbert third and McDonald fourth.

Northeast's Indians also gave Don Styron most of his competition in the low hurdles, Randall Walker coming in second and Owen Owen third. Walker will probably pass up the timbers this time, however, in favor of his top event, the 440. The 440 was not run in the Relays. Walker is undefeated in the event this year.

Buddy Eiland will be favored in the 880 and mile while the Northeast team of the Styrons, Goldsmith and McDonald is expected to take the 440 relay and the Styrons, Walker and John Baker will be the choices in the mile relay.

Jack Williams of Northeast, third in the Relays, will be a strong contender in the two-mile along with teammate Bill Frye.

Indian Tiffen Stone will be favored in the discus while Edmonson and Owen are a couple of strong Tribe entries in the broad jump. Northwestern's Larry Crow and Tech's Max Howard are expected to dominate this event, however.

Gene Harbert is expected to throw the javelin for Northeast and Stone will put the shot. Eugene Franklin will high jump for the Indians as well as run the hurdles.

BEATS RAYVILLE, 8-0

St. Francis Wins Class A State Title

HOUMA (Special) — Harold Haydel shut out the Rayville Hornets with a strong two-hitter and struck out 14 batters here Friday night to lead the St. Francis Terriers to their second straight Class A State championship.

This was the eighth. State title for the Terriers in the last 11 years. They won District 6-A with a 5-1 record and posted a 12-6 mark for the season.

Haydel, along with his brilliant pitching, also drove in two runs with a single and double in three official at - bats. The slim senior righthander averaged about 17 strikeouts per game this season.

Centerfielder Bo Kinnard was the leading hitter in the game, going 3-4. David Faulk, the St. Francis' leading hitter for the season with a .355 average, had a single and double in four at-bats.

Charlie Gammill, who worked the first four innings for the Hornets, was charged with the loss. He was tagged for seven hits, but allowed only one earned run before being replaced by Aubry Quimby in the fifth.

St. Francis collected single runs in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings before breaking loose for four in the sixth.

Sir Gaylord Out; Ridan Is Now Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fate's lightning struck quickly three times at Churchill Downs Friday and eliminated a trio of top horses from the 88th Kentucky Derby. But the biggest bolt was the astonishing injury which eliminated the favored Sir Gaylord and left big and tough Ridan the 2-1 favorite.

His owners said Sir Gaylord would be retired to stud.

A hairline fracture of the sesamoid bone of the right front leg, sustained during an early morning workout, knocked Sir Gaylord out of the $125,000-added roses run Saturday and shattered the hopes of Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia. His champion filly, Cicada, also was withdrawn, as was the California colt Donut King, leaving 15 to battle over the 1¼ miles, starting at 4:30 p.m. EST.

Chenery was en route to Louisville by rail and didn't know of his misfortune for hours, as the train was 2½ hours late. His trainer, Casey Hayes, already had taken Sir Gaylord out of the classic race for 3-year-olds after Xrays definitely disclosed the injury to his star's leg.

But he couldn't clarify Cicada's status until Chenery's arrival, although time was running short in the greatest pre-Derby drama in more than 30 years. Chenery and Hayes hurried to Sir Gaylord's barn at Churchill Downs, arriving in early afternoon.

Cicada had been entered in the $35,000-added Kentucky Oaks for 3-year-old fillies Friday afternoon. Hayes also had put her in the Derby as insurance against such a mishap that befell Sir Gaylord. Ridan, owned by Mrs. Moody Jolley, had barely beaten Cicada by a nose in the $100,000 Florida Derby on March 31.

"My first inclination was to run her in the Derby," said the crestfallen Chenery at a hastily summoned barnside press conference.

"But now, my decision is 'No,' after conferring on the situation. Cicada had been prepared for the Oaks this afternoon. Her feeding was adjusted to this and it would have been upsetting now to change this.

"Furthermore, she is in post position 15 and would be running against colts, which is asking too much. She is a great filly and I want to give her every chance."

Chenery has had two big cracks at the Derby, with Hill Prince running second in 1950 and First Landing finishing third in 1959.

Chenery's difficult decision recalled a 1931 race when favored Equipoise was withdrawn at noon on Derby day because of a cracked hoof. Twenty Grand then won that Derby in record time.

Donut King, a California-bred colt, owned by Verne W. Winchell Jr. of Los Angeles, also was withdrawn. But this didn't come as such a shock. Donut King has been ailing with an infection in the left hind foot. The abscess was opened Friday and drained and the colt will try to make the Preakness May 19 in Baltimore.

Ridan and Sir Gaylord were the heavy favorites for the Derby. Ridan, unbeaten as a 2-year-old, had smashed his field in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland April 26. Last Saturday, Sir Gaylord easily won the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs, after having been laid up with an ankle injury since he beat Ridan handily in the Everglade Stakes Feb. 21 at Hialeah.

With Ridan the new favorite after Sir Gaylord ruled as the early 8-5 favorite, Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County moved into the second spot at 7-2.

Sunrise County finished first in the $100,000 Flamingo at Hialeah but was disqualified for interfering with Ridan. In the Wood Memorial at New York, Sunrise County hit the wire in a dead heat for first with Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, but again was disqualified for bearing out and impeding Hooper's colt.

Sir Ribot, a British-bred colt owned by Fred Turner Jr. of Midland, Tex., and who has raced in California, is the third choice at 6-1.

Admiral's Voyage was quoted at 8-1 in the revised odds line along with El Peco Ranch's Decidedly, who finished second in the Everglades and was runner-up to Ridan in the Blue Grass.

Roman Line, second to Admiral's Voyage in the Louisiana Derby was quoted at 10-1. You could almost write your own ticket on the others.

With 15 starters, the Derby pot will gross $162,150, with the winner collecting $119,650.

A sudden thunderstorm swept over Churchill Downs when the field started for the first race Friday. And if it keeps up an off track is a possibility. The weather man said there was a possibility of showers Friday night and Saturday with a temperature of 84 degrees on Derby afternoon.

In the event of an off track, Mister Pitt, Royal Attack and Sharp Count might be withdrawn. Owners must pay $1,250 to start their horses in the Dereby.

The race will be carried nationally on radio and television (CBS) from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m., EST.

Sir Gaylord's injury was discovered when he was cooling out after a five-eighths of a mile spin. The X rays showed the fracture on the inside of the right front ankle. The same ankle was hurt in the Everglades but lower down and on the outside. Veterinarians said this was "an entirely new injury." The sesamoid is a bone that acts as sort of a shock absorber.

Sir Gaylord will be sent to Chenery's farm, the Meadows, at Doswell, Va., probably on Monday and be retired to stud.

"He too good a horse to try and bring him back and hurt him again," said Chenerey.

Chenery also had to consider his riders. I. Valenzuela has been riding Sir Gaylord but Willie Shoemaker handles Cicada.

"Shoemaker has other Derby commitments (Sunrise County) and we didn't even suggest that he change his plans," said Chenery. "That's the situation and I'm sorry. It's happened to us before and probably will again."

Cepeda Leads Giants Over Chicago, 11-6

CHICAGO (AP) — The not-so-sleepy San Francisco Giants, paced by Ornaldo Cepeda's five RBI on a homer, double and single, slugged out a 10th straight triumph 11-6 over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

The first-place Giants, who got to bed about 5 a.m., Chicago time after plane trouble en route, chased a rival starting pitcher for the 24th time in as many games in providing lefty Billy Pierce with his fourth victory without defeat.

BREAK FIVE MARKS

Tigers Take First In District Meet

An undefeated Neville track team will send several representatives to the State AA Track and Field meet in Lake Charles next Friday after winning the 2-AA District meet in Tiger Stadium Friday night—hands down.

Neville's record making thinclads tallied 102 3-5 points to take the team trophy while strong Ruston and Jonesboro-Hodge teams tied for second place honors with 79 3-5 points each. Haynesville scored 28 ½ points.

The first and second place winners are elgible to travel the state meet with the district's third winner serving as an alternate.

The Tigers took the district title from Ruston for the first time since 1949 in the first district meet ever to be held.

All relay records were bettered by the Neville squad; the 180 low hurdles record fell and John Segars bettered his own discus record.

Kicking off the running events with a bang, at 7 p.m. Don Brant, Freddy Moses, Bunzy Bryant and Mike Wilson combined to speed around the mile relay in record breaking 1:28.7 time. Later, Brant, Moses, Steve Jefferson and Wilson bettered the 400 record by one full second. As if two records weren't enough the team of Bryant, Kurt Guelzow, Wilson and Jimmy Howard shaved more than four seconds from the mile relay record and spanned the distance in 3:26.2, to break a Ruston record standing since 1957.

Tiger Freddie Vogel bounded across the 180 low hurldes in 20.0 to slice three-tenths of a second off a record of 20.3 which had been reached by two Ruston runners.

Because of a second place tie in the 120 high hurdles, Vogel and Ruston's Billy Patterson ran the event again after completion of the meet to determine state qualification. Vogel skipped over the obstacle two-tenths of a second faster the second time than his first attempt to edge out freshman Patterson.

Segars discus hurl of 152-1 bettered his own 1961 mark of 134-0.

Neville will be able to enter at least 13 of the scheduled state events in Lake Charles.

A five way tie for fourth place in the pole vault pushed the meet's scoring columns into fractional measures.

In the field events, Segars' shot put heave made Jonesboro's Robert Marrus take a second place seat by five-eighths of an inch.

Strong in the field, Jonesboro took four first places — Marrus one and Alton Reeves three — while Segars scored Neville's only first in the field. Tommy Parker and Mike Edmunds of Ruston tied for first and second in the high jump with a leap of 5-6.

Reeves threatened the meet's pole vault record of 12-6 going 12-3.

Medals were awarded to first, second and third place winners with Neville walking off with all of the relay trophies and the team trophy.

In the 880 run Richard Bunchans, of oJnesboro, pulled off a last lap come from behind effort to beat Haynesville's Bill Smith by three-tenths of a second. Smith, however, had earlier run the mile in a winning 4:36.3, his best effort of the year.

Jofre Scores KO In Tenth Round To Retain Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Brazilian Eder Jofre exploded his devastating punches in the 10th round and stopped challenger Herman Marquez to retain his world bantamweight boxing title Friday night.

Jofre, who failed to get an advantage through the first nine stanzas, floored Marquez midway in the 10th with a combination of lefts and rights. The Stockton, Calif., challenger was up at 5, took an 8-count, but could not stand off a Jofre attack as a flurry of rights put him down again.

Undefeated Indians Take On Demons, 'Dogs Tonight

Northeast's unbeaten track team gets its final chance to tune up for next week's Gulf States Conference meet when it takes on Northwestern and Louisiana Tech, expected to be two of its top opponents in the league roundup, in a triangular meet in Natchitoches tonight.

The meet is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Both Northwestern and Tech were among the top finishers in last Tuesday evening's Northwestern Relays, Northwestern finishing second with 49½ points and Tech fourth with 39½. Northeast was first, for the seventh straight time this year, with 91 points.

Judging from Northwestern Relays results, the pole vault should be the top event in tonight's affair. Northwestern veteran Brent Womack and Northeast freshman star Tommy Edmonson tied for first in the vault with 14-0 while Northwestern freshman Gary Johnson was third and Northeast's Noel Orr and Tech's Bob Goree tied for fourth.

Northeast, for two reasons — Don and Dave Styron — is expected to dominate the sprints and hurdles. Dave Styron was first in the Northwestern Relays century with 9.6 and brother Don took the high hurdles in 13.9 and the lows in 22.5. Both Styrons are undefeated in their specialties this year.

Teammates Jay Goldsmith and Charles McDonald and NSC's Glenn Talbert are rated other top entries in the sprints. Goldsmith was second to Styron Tuesday, Talbert third and McDonald fourth.

Northeast's Indians also gave Don Styron most of his competition in the low hurdles, Randall Walker coming in second and Owen Owen third. Walker will probably pass up the timbers this time, however, in favor of his top event, the 440. The 440 was not run in the Relays. Walker is undefeated in the event this year.

Buddy Eiland will be favored in the 880 and mile while the Northeast team of the Styrons, Goldsmith and McDonald is expected to take the 440 relay and the Styrons, Walker and John Baker will be the choices in the mile relay.

Jack Williams of Northeast, third in the Relays, will be a strong contender in the two-mile along with teammate Bill Frye.

Indian Tiffen Stone will be favored in the discus while Edmonson and Owen are a couple of strong Tribe entries in the broad jump. Northwestern's Larry Crow and Tech's Max Howard are expected to dominate this event, however.

Gene Harbert is expected to throw the javelin for Northeast and Stone will put the shot. Eugene Franklin will high jump for the Indians as well as run the hurdles.

BEATS RAYVILLE, 8-0

St. Francis Wins Class A State Title

HOUMA (Special) — Harold Haydel shut out the Rayville Hornets with a strong two-hitter and struck out 14 batters here Friday night to lead the St. Francis Terriers to their second straight Class A State championship.

This was the eighth State title for the Terriers in the last 11 years. They won District 6-A with a 5-1 record and posted a 12-6 mark for the season.

Haydel, along with his brilliant pitching, also drove in two runs with a single and double in three official at-bats. The slim senior righthander averaged about 17 strikeouts per game this season.

Centerfielder Bo Kinnard was the leading hitter in the game, going 3-4. David Faulk, the St. Francis' leading hitter for the season with a .355 average, had a single and double in four at-bats.

Charlie Gammill, who worked the first four innings for the Hornets, was charged with the loss. He was tagged for seven hits, but allowed only one earned run before being replaced by Aubry Quimby in the fifth.

St. Francis collected single runs in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings before breaking loose for four in the sixth.

Tech Nips Tribe In Protested Tilt

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Louisiana Tech clung tenaciously to a 1-0 lead while little George Woodson put out four Northeast State batters for a trim Gulf States Conference win here on the Ouachita diamond Friday afternoon in the completion of the April 9th game protested by the Bulldogs.

The game, which upped the Bulldogs GSC mark to 6-6 and kept alive their slim hopes of taking their fifth straight baseball crown, began at the point of the protest with Tech in front 1-0, two out and a Northeast runner on second in the bottom of the sixth.

But it was no walk away for the little Tech righthander. Northeast put a man on third in the sixth before Tech could retire the side and got a runner on second in the seventh with one out.

The loss dropped the Indians to a 4-6 conference record going into their regularly scheduled doubleheader with Tech in Ruston today.

It was a tough game for Northeast freshman Ed Quimby to lose. The ex-Rayville star pitched two-hit ball over the first six innings of the original game and struck out two men while setting Tech down one, two, three in the seventh of Friday's completion.

Johnny Pace, the first batter, hit a broken-bat single that almost scored Groves from second. But Tech shortstop Paul Labenne made a good stop, then raced over to third to halt Groves.

With the tying run on third and Pace, the winning run, on first, Woodson forced Phil Petras to ground out to end the inning.

In the top of the seventh Tech's John Cardaro was thrown out at first on a grounder and Charlie Fuller and Rosco Holcomb went down swinging.

It was Northeast's turn again.

Then Gary Fields came up. Woodson got two strikes on him and Indian Coach George Luffey sent in Donnie Brunson to take the last swing.

It was one away and a man on second.

Luffey inserted James Cromwell to run for Brunson, but freshman Charlie Dykes grounded to the third baseman, who checked Cromwell at second before firing to first for the second out.

Now Luffey sent in Dave McCarty to pinch-hit for Quimby. But the clutch - hitting Bonita frosh laid down an easy grounder to Labenne and the game was over.

For the Tech team which won five straight one-run decisions last year it was the first one-run victory in six games this spring.

The game evened Tech's series with the Indians for 1962. Northeast edged the Bulldogs 2-1 in the first game of their April 9 doubleheader.

Tech came back in the nightcap scoring one earned run in the first inning on a Sonny Parker single down the third base line.

Then in the sixth with one out, Northeast's Eddie McGowan was trapped off second and run down, but was awarded third on an umpire's ruling. Tech protested the play, the umpire later reversed his interpretation of the rule and the conference coaches ordered the replay.

After the protest, Northeast scored two runs and was awarded a 2-1 decision in the game. Friday's replay reversed that decision and changed the team's conference records.

O'Toole Cools Red Birds On Neat 5-Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim O'Toole got his revenge Friday night by limiting the St. Louis Cardinals to five hits, while three of his teammates homered to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 victory in the opener of a four-game series.

It was the best performance so far for the 25-year-old southpaw, who was an easy mark for the Cardinals a week ago. He is now 2-3.

The first homer was by Frank Robinson who smacked loser Larry Jackson's first pitch over the center field fence to start the second inning.

Phillies Get 4th Straight Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies extended their winning streak to four games Friday night with a 6-5 decision over the New York Mets at Connie Mack Stadium. It was the 15th defeat in 18 National League engagements for Casey Stengel's newcomers, who loaded the bases in the ninth inning with nobody out but failed to score.

New York's Frank Thomas clouted a three-run homer in the first inning—his eighth — to tie Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Leon Wagner for the major league lead.

Palmer Holds Down First Place Tie After 2 Rounds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The $58,000 Tournament of Champions reached a blustery midpoint Friday with veterans Arnold Palmer, Doug Ford and Cary Middlecoff tied for the top spot with 36-hole scores of 139.

Playing the Desert Inn Country Club course in windy, 96-degree weather, Ford shot a 69—aided no little by a beautiful spoon shot on the 539-yard fifth hole that netted an eagle 3.

The 67 gave the 30-year-old Apple Valley, Calif., pro, a 140, and a tie with Earl Stewart Jr., Jack Fleck and Australia's Bruce Crampton.

Defending champion Sam Snead who had a 70 Thursday, blew himself out of the front ranks of the small field of 28 players when he took a 3-over-par 7 on the ninth hole. He finished with 40-35—75 for 145.

Hard luck also hit two other co-leaders of the first round, Mike Souchak and Doug Sanders.

ONE MAN OWNERSHIP

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Full control of the Chicago White Sox came under one man for the first time since 1939 Friday when majority stock holder Arthur C. Allyn Jr., bought out an 11-man group holding the 46 per cent minority interest.

The move was described as solely for tax benefits.

Allyn and representatives of the minority group announced the transaction at a surprise news conference, but did not disclose the price of 2,466 shares of Sox stock which changed hands.

However, the 46 per cent holdings had been purchased from Chuck Comiskey last Dec. 15 for an estimated $3.5 million.

It was Chuck's father, the late J. Louis Comiskey, who last was in full control of the White Sox prior to his death in the 1930's.

Spokesman for the selling group, William C. Bartholomay, 33, an insurance executive, declared the sale developed only because of "the tax question."

"Our lawyers exhausted all possible means to find a tax relief alternate to single ownership," Bartholomay said. "Our group bought into the club as avid White Sox fans. Our only reason for selling is to keep more dollars in the baseball club and improve it into pennant-winning stature."

Allyn, who owns an investment firm with diverse interests, plained that full tax depreci benefits only could be gaine a majority owner held more 80 per cent of the club's s

Allyn said the concentratio all stock in his hands would result in any front office cha "Whatever financial benefits can gain," said Allyn, "wil exploited in improvement o club in any way deemed bes General Manager Ed Short, Manager Al Lopez and Greenberg."

Tech Nips Tribe In Protested Tilt

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Louisiana Tech clung tenaciously to a 1-0 lead while little George Woodson put out four Northeast State batters for a trim Gulf States Conference win here on the Ouachita diamond Friday afternoon in the completion of the April 9th game protested by the Bulldogs.

The game, which upped the Bulldogs GSC mark to 6-6 and kept alive their slim hopes of taking their fifth straight baseball crown, began at the point of the protest with Tech in front 1-0, two out and a Northeast runner on second in the bottom of the sixth.

But it was no walk away for the little Tech righthander. Northeast put a man on third in the sixth before Tech could retire the side and got a runner on second in the seventh with one out.

The loss dropped the Indians to a 4-6 conference record going into their regularly scheduled doubleheader with Tech in Ruston today.

It was a tough game for Northeast freshman Ed Quimby to lose. The ex-Rayville star pitched two-hit ball over the first six innings of the original game and struck out two men while setting Tech down one, two, three in the seventh of Friday's completion.

Johnny Pace, the first batter, hit a broken-bat single that almost scored Groves from second. But Tech shortstop Paul Labenne made a good stop, then raced over to third to halt Groves.

With the tying run on third and Pace, the winning run, on first, Woodson forced Phil Petras to ground out to end the inning.

In the top of the seventh Tech's John Cardaro was thrown out at first on a grounder and Charlie Fuller and Rosco Holcomb went down swinging.

It was Northeast's turn again. The first batter, Don Boniol, hit a hard bouncer to Woodson for the first out.

Then Gary Fields came up. Woodson got two strikes on him and Indian Coach George Luffey sent in Donnie Brunson to take the last swing.

It was one away and a man on second.

Luffey inserted James Cromwell to run for Brunson, but freshman Charlie Dykes grounded to the third baseman, who checked Cromwell at second before firing to first for the second out.

Now Luffey sent in Dave McCarty to pinch-hit for Quimby. But the clutch - hitting Bonita frosh laid down an easy grounder to Labenne and the game was over.

For the Tech team which won five straight one-run decisions last year it was the first one-run victory in six games this spring.

The game evened Tech's series with the Indians for 1962. Northeast edged the Bulldogs 2-1 in the first game of their April 9 doubleheader.

Tech came back in the nightcap scoring one earned run in the first inning on a Sonny Parker single down the third base line.

Then in the sixth with one out, Northeast's Eddie McGowan was trapped off second and run down, but was awarded third on an umpire's ruling. Tech protested the play, the umpire later reversed his interpretation of the rule and the conference coaches ordered the replay.

After the protest, Northeast scored two runs and was awarded a 2-1 decision in the game. Friday's replay reversed that decision and changed the team's conference records.

O'Toole Cools Red Birds On Neat 5-Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim O'Toole got his revenge Friday night by limiting the St. Louis Cardinals to five hits, while three of his teammates homered to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 victory in the opener of a four-game series.

It was the best performance so far for the 25-year-old southpaw, who was an easy mark for the Cardinals a week ago. He is now 2-3.

The first homer was by Frank Robinson who smacked loser Larry Jackson's first pitch over the center field fence to start the second inning.

Phillies Get 4th Straight Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies extended their winning streak to four games Friday night with a 6-5 decision over the New York Mets at Connie Mack Stadium. It was the 15th defeat in 18 National League engagements for Casey Stengel's newcomers, who loaded the bases in the ninth inning with nobody out but failed to score.

New York's Frank Thomas clouted a three-run homer in the first inning—his eighth — to tie Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Leon Wagner for the major league lead.

Palmer Holds Down First Place Tie After 2 Rounds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The $58,000 Tournament of Champions reached a blustery midpoint Friday with veterans Arnold Palmer, Doug Ford and Cary Middlecoff tied for the top spot with 36-hole scores of 139.

Playing the Desert Inn Country Club course in windy, 96-degree weather, Ford shot a 69—aided no little by a beautiful spoon shot on the 539-yard fifth hole that netted an eagle 3.

The 67 gave the 30-year-old Apple Valley, Calif., pro, a 140, and a tie with Earl Stewart Jr., Jack Fleck and Australia's Bruce Crampton.

Defending champion Sam Snead who had a 70 Thursday, blew himself out of the front ranks of the small field of 28 players when he took a 3-over-par 7 on the ninth hole. He finished with 40-35—75 for 145.

Boston Defeats White Sox, 13-6

BOSTON (AP) — Aroused Boston defeated Chicago 13-6 Friday night on the strength of a wild, 12-run inning, biggest of the major league's this season, during which Carl Yastrzemski drove in four runs.

The weak-hitting Red Sox had been held to a pair of singles by White Sox starter Ray Herbert through four frames when they suddenly erupted.

Boston sent 16 men to bat, facing five pitchers, and smacked 6 singles, 2 doubles and 5 walks.

ONE MAN OWNERSHIP

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Full control of the Chicago White Sox came under one man for the first time since 1939 Friday when majority stock holder Arthur C. Allyn Jr., bought out an 11-man group holding the 46 per cent minority interest.

The move was described as solely for tax benefits.

Allyn and representatives of the minority group announced the transaction at a surprise news conference, but did not disclose the price of 2,466 shares of Sox stock which changed hands.

However, the 46 per cent holdings had been purchased from Chuck Comiskey last Dec. 15 for an estimated $3.5 million.

It was Chuck's father, the late J. Louis Comiskey, who last was in full control of the White Sox prior to his death in the 1930's.

Spokesman for the selling group, William C. Bartholomay, 33, an insurance executive, declared the sale developed only because of "the tax question."

"Our lawyers exhausted all possible means to find a tax relief alternate to single ownership," Bartholomay said. "Our group bought into the club as avid White Sox fans. Our only reason for selling is to keep more dollars in the baseball club and improve it into pennant-winning stature."

Allyn, who owns an investment firm with diverse interests, explained that full tax depreciation benefits only could be gained if a majority owner held more than 80 per cent of the club's stock.

Allyn said the concentration of all stock in his hands would not result in any front office changes. "Whatever financial benefits we can gain," said Allyn, "will be exploited in improvement of the club in any way deemed best by General Manager Ed Short, Field Manager Al Lopez and Hank Greenberg."

Greenberg, former partner with Bill Veeck and Allyn in the majority group, still is a member of the Sox five-member board of directors. Last June 10, the ailing Veeck, then Sox president, and club vice president Greenberg sold their 30 and 40 per cent of majority holdings to Allyn for reported $2.5 million.

Allyn emphaszied that Friday's transaction was a love-of-the-game move by the minority group because two of its leaders, Bartholomay and Thomas A. Reynolds Jr., Chicago attorney, will remain on the Sox board of directors, along with himself; his brother, John W. Allyn; and Greenberg.

Growth Rate Of Christian Groups About Equals Nation's Population Gains

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The official Catholic directory for 1962, published Friday, shows that the Catholic population of the United States has increased by 772,000, or about 1.8 per cent, during the past year. Present membership of Catholic churches is given as 42,887,000.

The 1962 yearbook of American churches, published earlier, showed that Protestant churches had grown in membership at approximately the same rate, 1.8 per cent. It gave a total figure of 63,669,000 for Protestants.

The disparity between Catholic and Protestant populations is actually somewhat greater than the figures indicate, since Catholic churches count all baptized members, including infants, whereas most Protestant churches do not include children under 13 in their membership reports.

The reported growth rate for both Christian groups—1.8 per cent—is approximately equal to the present rate of U.S. population growth.

During the big church membership boom of the late 1940s and 1950s, both Catholics and Protestants recorded annual gains considerably in excess of population growth.

The United Lutheran Church, which has been America's largest Lutheran body for the past 44 years, yielded its front-ranking position this week to the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church.

Newly published membership statistics for both denominations show the Missouri Synod now has 2,555,000 members to the United Lutheran Church's 2,496,000.

Catholic segregationists, in New Orleans and elsewhere, are about to receive a dramatic reminder from the Vatican that there are no racial barriers in heaven.

Sunday, May 6, in a solemn canonization ceremony at St. Peter's Church in Rome, Pope John XXIII will proclaim formally that among the saints in heaven, to whom Catholics may address prayers for intercession, is brother Martin de Porres of Lima, Peru.

Martin de Porres was a mulatto, born illegitmately in 1579 of a Negro mother and a Spanish father. He became a lay brother in a Dominican priory, and spent his life treating the sick and relieving poverty among Peru's Negroes, Indians and half-castes.

Although St. Martiniis the first colored American to be raised to sainthood, there have been Negro saints from other countries. Tradition holds that three of the early popes—St. Victor I (189-199 A.D.), St. Melchiades (311-314 A.D.) and St. Gelasius I (492-496 A.D.) — were North African Negroes. St. Benedict the Moor, a Franciscan monk canonized in 1807, was born of Negro parents in Sicily.

Millions of Protestant church women in the United States held special workshops, conferences, luncheons and other types of meetings Friday (May 4) to study race relations in their home towns.

The nationwide observance was sponsored by United Church Women, a branch of the National Council of Churches which embraces some 12 million members of 34 major denominations.

It was part of a three-year project launched by United Church Women last fall to end racial discrimination in local communities, and particularly in church activities.

Reports reaching anti-Communist American bishops of the Russian Orthodox Church indicate that the Soviet Union may be stepping up its cold war against religion. An article published recently by the Moscow Literary Gazette call on anti-religious propagandists to intensify their attacks during the Easter season. Significantly, it said Communists should not worry about "sparing the feelings" of believers. In the past, the official line has been to avoid offending religious feelings.

"The new development in the government's attitude toward the church," warns a report from the synod of bishops of the Russian Orthodox Church outside of Russia, "may lead to organized interference with church services, including hooliganism within church buildings and disturbances outside."

The World Council of Churches will have its own "Peace Corps" in the field this summer for the 16th consecutive year. More than 1,100 young Christian students from all parts of the world will work together in 29 different countries on projects ranging from building a stable in Madagascar to digging a canal in Switzerland. And they'll pay all of their own expenses.

The summer projects, called 'Ecumenical Work Camps," include a program of religious study. Besides the helpful labor performed for impoverished local church, hospitals, etc., the work camps enable young people from widely different social, cultural, religious and national backgrounds to get to know one another, and to discuss their common heritage of Christian faith.

During a Billy Graham crusade in Los Angeles about 10 years ago, one of the men who came forward to make a "decision for Christ" was a gangster named Jim Vaus. Vaus had been a wiretapper and general handy man for the Mickey Cohen mob.

Today Jim Vaus is conducting a Christian mission for young people in the toughest section of New York's "Spanish Harlem." He tells members of teen-age street gangs about his own youthful career in crime, and assures them that "Jesus Christ can change your life for good."

After four years of experience with his store-front mission, Vaus told a recent meeting of the National Association of Evangelicals he is convinced that "no kid is unreachable . . . but their interest is directly proportionate to your genuine interest in them."

Martin de Porres was a mulatto, born illegitmately in 1579 of a Negro mother and a Spanish father. He became a lay brother in a Dominican priory, and spent his life treating the sick and relieving poverty among Peru's Negroes, Indians and half-castes.

Although St. Martiniis the first colored American to be raised to sainthood, there have been Negro saints from other countries. Tradition holds that three of the early popes—St. Victor I (189-199 A.D.), St. Melchiades (311-314 A.D.) and St. Gelasius I (492-496 A.D.) — were North African Negroes. St. Benedict the Moor, a Franciscan monk canonized in 1807, was born of Negro parents in Sicily.

Millions of Protestant church women in the United States held special workshops, conferences, luncheons and other types of meetings Friday (May 4) to study race relations in their home towns.

The nationwide observance was sponsored by United Church Women, a branch of the National Council of Churches which embraces some 12 million members of 34 major denominations.

It was part of a three-year project launched by United Church Women last fall to end racial discrimination in local communities, and particularly in church activities.

Reports reaching anti-Communist American bishops of the Russian Orthodox Church indicate that the Soviet Union may be stepping up its cold war against religion. An article published recently by the Moscow Literary Gazette call on anti-religious propagandists to intensify their attacks during the Easter season. Significantly, it said Communists should not worry about "sparing the feelings" of believers. In the past, the official line has been to avoid offending religious feelings.

"The new development in the government's attitude toward the church," warns a report from the synod of bishops of the Russian Orthodox Church outside of Russia, "may lead to organized interference with church services, including hooliganism within church buildings and disturbances outside."

The World Council of Churches will have its own "Peace Corps" in the field this summer for the 16th consecutive year. More than 1,100 young Christian students from all parts of the world will work together in 29 different countries on projects ranging from building a stable in Madagascar to digging a canal in Switzerland. And they'll pay all of their own expenses.

The summer projects, called 'Ecumenical Work Camps," include a program of religious study. Besides the helpful labor performed for impoverished local church, hospitals, etc., the work camps enable young people from widely different social, cultural, religious and national backgrounds to get to know one another, and to discuss their common heritage of Christian faith.

During a Billy Graham crusade in Los Angeles about 10 years ago, one of the men who came forward to make a "decision for Christ" was a gangster named Jim Vaus. Vaus had been a wiretapper and general handy man for the Mickey Cohen mob.

Today Jim Vaus is conducting a Christian mission for young people in the toughest section of New York's "Spanish Harlem." He tells members of teen-age street gangs about his own youthful career in crime, and assures them that "Jesus Christ can change your life for good."

After four years of experience with his store-front mission, Vaus told a recent meeting of the National Association of Evangelicals he is convinced that "no kid is unreachable . . . but their interest is directly proportionate to your genuine interest in them."

Mrs. Nancy Edmonston, at the organ, accompanied Mrs. Norma Gleason, who sang "The Song of Ruth," "Oh, Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of peau de soi. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline, long tapered sleeves, and re-embroidered alencon patterns in the front of the skirt that formed a train in the back. The bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was caught with a petaled crown of alencon, seed pearls and soft crushed white roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and green English Ivy, topped with a white Bible.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: Well — I'm in the soup. Right along with the crackers I said it was all right to crumble. The following letter was written by a Catholic priest.

Dear Ann: For years I have been an apostle of proper eating habits and in one sentence you seek to destroy all my work. I have written a handbook on proper eating habits for young seminaries. I quoted my authority about the breaking of crackers. It is Esquire Etiquette For Men, Lippincott, 1960. It had this to say:

"Only the slob breaks saltines into his soup. If cracker is meant to go into the soup it is meant to go in whole. Croutons should be spooned directly into the soup; oyster crackers should first be put on the butter plate or on the cloth, then dropped into the soup, whole — a few at a time."

The good Father continues:

For years I have been telling people it is improper to break up crackers in the soup, and now you come along and give the opposite advice. What is your authority? Can you enlighten me?—FATHER L. G.

Dear Father: Lippincott and your handbook to the contrary notwithstanding, I'm not backing down one inch. Good manners should make good sense. The polite person is one who is considerate. He does not offend or make others uncomfortable.

When one sits down to a bowl of soup, the question should NOT be, "What does Lippincott say?"—but "What is sensible?" Crumbling crackers into the soup is not offensive and it makes a great deal more sense than biting into crispy saltines and dropping cracker crumbs all over your vest.

So, in reply to your query, Father, my authority is common sense and logic and you can't beat that, can you?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I appreciate your sensible down-to-earth advice and would like to have your views on something which has been bothering me.

I received a birthday gift from a woman I considered a good friend. When I opened the beautifully wrapped box I was astonished to find an item which I recognized from her own home. The gift even bore marks of having been used.

This woman could well have afforded to purchase a gift. Had she told me she was giving me something from her home which she cherished I would have been flattered. But gift wrapping a "white elephant" and attempting to pass it off as a birthday present it, in my opinion, unworthy.

Am I petty to feel hurt about this? If you think so, please don't hesitate to say it.—TAMPA READER

Dear Reader: Your friend certainly should have told you that the gift was one of her possessions if such was the case.

Wrapping a used item and attempting to pass it off as new is a cheap maneuver. Say nothing, of course, but it puts you in the catbird seat to have her number.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NOT INCLUDED: No, you should not tag along to an affair to which you have not been invited. If your boy friend wants you to be his date, and you know this is a matched - in - advance party, he must get permission from the hostess to bring you.

Confidential to GO-GETTER: So where are you going in such a hurry and what are you getting? Stay in school where you belong. You won't regret it.

HINTS FROM Heloise

DEAR READERS:

Our grandmothers worked like troopers (if you aren't as old as I am — 42 — then it was your great grandmother) and I am beginning to wonder if we remember them for the clean house they kept and the hours they spent doing things the hardway!

You may not agree with me (and if you don't . . . write and let me know) but we are trying to find all the short cuts so we can have more time to enjoy ourselves.

The main thing to remember when housekeeping "bugs" you is. . . nerves are the cause of it all!

Picking up is the answer. Papers on the floor, clothes, socks and shoes, dirty ash trays and the "middle" cyclone make us lose tempers, and take it out on whom? Husband? Children? Neighbors?

How to make it easier? Get rid of excess stuff. My slogan is . . . anything that doesn't hang on the wall and is not used daily should not be kept! Odd, but true.

Have you ever looked through your bureau drawers? That highboy? The chest of drawers? Never, never, clean drawers unless you are mad as a wet hen. Boy, oh boy, you can really clean and discard then! Besides, it let's the steam out of your boiler! Makes you feel good to know that all the "junk" is weeded out and the drawers are really clean.

If your family is like most (including mine!) you have old unmated socks, and underwear with the elastic worn out, a slip that is too long, a girdle that has stretched so it no longer does any good and five pairs of husband's shorts with "unelastic" elastic!

Clean it all out, give it away (if you can afford to) or put it in the rag bag. Remember . . . if it isn't good enough to wear, then something needs to be done to it . . . or with it.

When you clean those clothes drawers, don't stop to think. This will only permit the feeling to creep up that you are wasting something you aren't.

About that mending. You and I know that the day will be years away before you stop to mend husband's socks! Why clutter up the drawers waiting for that year to come? You might hit a sale on socks before then. They may be so cheap that he will be more pleased to have new socks. (Besides if you discard the old darned ones, he will think he is short on socks and tell you to buy new ones, thus saving more time, energy and sore toes from darns.)

Remember the paper sacks, girls. They are used for so many things. Buy yourself a marker (which can be used for a thousand other time-saving things) and label each sack . . .charity, sewing, machine mending, hand mending, etc. Ah, it's wonderful . . . and again I repeat . . . don't knock it until you've tried it, girls. I have.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: All my friends are either 16 or 17. I like my friends and want to keep them as friends, but here is my problem: My father wears a hair piece and when he walks by my friends, they say "bow wow" and "meow" and make fun of his hair piece. My father never says anything to them because he is too embarrassed. Abby, how can I tell my friends to quit making fun of my father?

BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED: Tell them that their sense of humor is off, and they are being cruel. They will understand if you approach them seriously. P. S. Your father should take a long look at his hair piece.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor borrowed our vaporizer and she never returned it. When we needed it, I had to go to her house and get it. She said, "Oh, I'm sorry you had to come after it. I guess I should have returned it." Then her husband turned to me and piped up, "There is no reason for us to have returned it. You KNEW where the vaporizer was and it is just as safe at our house as it is at yours!" Can you imagine anyone so inconsiderate and stupid? How can we refuse to lend things without giving our neighbors the impression that we are selfish?

NOT SELFISH

DEAR NOT SELFISH: not all neighbors are as inconsiderate and ignorant as the husband of your friend. But a good rule is: "Neither a borrower nor a lender be."

For a personal (unpublished) reply to your problem, send Abby a self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of News-Star.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 30 cents a bale higher to 65 cents lower Friday.

Only distant October showed a decline on light commission House selling toward the close which met an absence of support. The balance of the market was steady, influenced by an upturn in nearby May contracts and expectations of improvement in U.S. cotton exports over the next few months under a Washington financing program.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO AP) — The butcher hog market was strong to 50 cents higher Friday.

The top of $16.50 was unchanged from Thursday but it was paid somewhat more freely for 190-220 lb mixed No. 1 and 2 grades. Mixed 1-3 grades up to 230 lbs cleared at $15.75 and up and heavier weights upward from $14.75. Sows went at $12.85-13.75.

The offerings of slaughter steers, heifers, vealers and lambs were too scant for a test of prices. Some good grade slaughter steers sold at $23.50 and some good heifers up to $24.50.

GRAIN

CHICAGO AP)—The grain futures market split its direction in late transactions Friday and closed with wheat generally firm and other commodities mostly easier on the Board of Trade.

The activity was largely to even up commitments for the weekend but traders said there probably was some liquidation in the corn pit which represented a fairly substantial withdrawal from the market.

Stock Prices Decline In Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI)—Persistent selling hit nearly every major group Friday, paring $2 billion from already depleted stock market values.

Trading, which ran fairly active through most of the session, slowed in the late afternoon to total 3,010,000 shares, down from 3,320,000 on Thursday.

Dow-Jones industrials were off 4.29 and Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks slipped 0.29. A total of 1,262 issues were traded, 681 declining and 361 advancing. Of these, 55 hit new 1962 lows and only 10 new highs.

The selloff began in steels shortly after U. S. Steel announced that it would close two blast furnaces and six open hearths because of a lack of orders, and soon spread throughout the list.

The D-J rails dropped 1.24 reflecting fractional losses in over a dozen railroad issues and drops of at least 1 in Great Northern and Norfolk & Western.

Autos were weak despite news that April car sales were the highest for the same month since 1955. Chrysler shed 2½ and Parmalee Transportation 2. Most chemicals moved lower with Du Pont down 2½, Union Carbide 1⅜, Dow 1¼ and United Carbon 1½.

The Dow-Jones utilities rose 0.08 reflecting a gain of 1¼ in Cleveland Electric Illuminating and 1 in Houston Lighting.

U.S. Steel topped the most active list with a turnover of 69,300. This was followed by Royal Dutch off ⅜ despite higher sales and earnings, Bethlehem Steel off ⅝, General Motors off ¼, and General Tire off ½.

Prices on the American Exchange were irregular on a turnover of 930,000 shares compared with 1,030,000 in the previous session. Featured on the AMEX were Syntex off 1½ and Anken Chemical off ⅞. Shoe Corp. of America added 2⅛ on a 25 per cent stock dividend.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO AP) — The butcher hog market was strong to 50 cents higher Friday.

The top of $16.50 was unchanged from Thursday but it was paid somewhat more freely for 190-220 lb mixed No. 1 and 2 grades. Mixed 1-3 grades up to 230 lbs cleared at $15.75 and up and heavier weights upward from $14.75. Sows went at $12.85-13.75.

GRAIN

CHICAGO AP)—The grain futures market split its direction in late transactions Friday and closed with wheat generally firm and other commodities mostly easier on the Board of Trade.

The activity was largely to even up commitments for the weekend but traders said there probably was some liquidation in the corn pit which represented a fairly substantial withdrawal from the market.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 30 cents a bale higher to 65 cents lower Friday.

Only distant October showed a decline on light commission House selling toward the close which met an absence of support. The balance of the market was steady, influenced by an upturn in nearby May contracts and expectations of improvement in U.S. cotton exports over the next few months under a Washington financing program.

Stock Prices Decline In Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI)—Persistent selling hit nearly every major group Friday, paring $2 billion from already depleted stock market values.

Trading, which ran fairly active through most of the session, slowed in the late afternoon to total 3,010,000 shares, down from 3,320,000 on Thursday.

Dow-Jones industrials were off 4.29 and Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks slipped 0.29. A total of 1,262 issues were traded, 681 declining and 361 advancing. Of these, 55 hit new 1962 lows and only 10 new highs.

The selloff began in steels shortly after U. S. Steel announced that it would close two blast furnaces and six open hearths because of a lack of orders, and soon spread throughout the list.

"Big steel" reacted with a loss of 2⅛ followed by Bethlehem down ⅝, Republic 1¼, Youngstown 1, Jones & Laughlin 1⅛, and Lukens 2.

The D-J rails dropped 1.24 reflecting fractional losses in over a dozen railroad issues and drops of at least 1 in Great Northern and Norfolk & Western.

Autos were weak despite news that April car sales were the highest for the same month since 1955. Chrysler shed 2½ and Parmalee Transportation 2. Most chemicals moved lower with Du Pont down 2½, Union Carbide 1⅜, Dow 1¼ and United Carbon 1½.

The Dow-Jones utilities rose 0.08 reflecting a gain of 1¼ in Cleveland Electric Illuminating and 1 in Houston Lighting.

U.S. Steel topped the most active list with a turnover of 69,300. This was followed by Royal Dutch off ⅜ despite higher sales and earnings, Bethlehem Steel off ⅝, General Motors off ¼, and General Tire off ½.

Prices on the American Exchange were irregular on a turnover of 930,000 shares compared with 1,030,000 in the previous session. Featured on the AMEX were Syntex off 1½ and Anken Chemical off ⅞. Shoe Corp. of America added 2⅛ on a 25 per cent stock dividend.

Third Jaycee Concert Set Here Sunday

The Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce will present third in a series of concerts in Forsythe at 2 p.m. Sunday. This Sunday, a double musical event is on the agenda as the Monroe Youth Symphony under the direction of Roger DiGiulian will peform along with the combined choirs of Neville High School under the direction of Miss Nina Harris.

The Jaycee program chairman Jack Murphy said the concerts have "already proved to be a wonderful success providing an opportunity for the many fine musical groups in the Monroe area to perform for the general public, and enable many family get - togethers and picnics after church services in the morning."

The Monroe Youth Symphony, composed of 45 musicians, recently received an "excellent" rating at the Ruston District Music Festival. Roger Di Giulian, the director, a native of West Palm Beach, Fla., received his musical education at Stetson University, Louisiana State University, and holds B. M. and M. M. degrees. He was a member for two years of the Baton Rouge Symphony. He has previously served on the faculty of Mississippi Southern College for four years, the Dallas Independent School system for two years, in both locations being very active in the music field with his orchestras and concert bands appearing over numerous radio and television stations.

The Monroe Youth Symphony will present Sunday Moussorgsky's "The Great Gate Of Kiev", Leroy Anderson's "Jazz Pizzicato", Merele J. Isaac's "South American Overture", Excerpts from Richard Wagneris Opera, and a 17th Century Hymn "Wilt Now Walk Before The Lord."

The combined choir of the Neville High School, directed by Miss Nina Harris, will present a varied program of songs including spirituals, patriotic, sacred and popular numbers. The Girl's Choir recently received a "superior" rating on concert numbers and an "excellent" rating on sight reading at the District Music Festival in Ruston. The mixed choir received "superior" ratings at the same festival on both concert, and sight reading. The state music festival in Baton Rouge last week awarded both choirs "excellent" ratings on concert and "superior" on sight reading.

Miss Harris, the director of the choirs, is a graduate of Newcomb College, and taught in Orleans Parish Schools and Broward County Schools in Florida before coming to the city school system two years ago. She also teaches music in Georgia Tucker, Lida Benton and Barkdull Faulk Elementary Schools.

The combined Choirs will present Sunday afternoon a selection of outstanding numbers including "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor", "The Lord Is My Shepherd", "Jacob's Ladder", "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing", Once In Love With Amy", "Selections From The Sound of Music", and "Where In The World But America."

Some of the musicians who were asked and said no are Jake Hanna (drums), Gus Johnson (drums), John Bunch (piano), Illinois Jacquet (tenor sax), Gene Krupa (drums), Lionel Hampton (drums - vibes), Harry Edison (trumpet), Lawrence Brown (trombone), Teddy Wilson (piano), and Hank Jones (piano).

Sales Of Cars Show Increase

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto industry sales last month ran 33 per cent ahead of April, 1961.

Industry figures showed the manufacturers delivered 538,861 new cars in April, one-third better than the 404,979 units sold the same month last year.

New Groups Of Negroes Leave State

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Segregationist citizens councils of Louisiana Friday paved the way for two more groups of Negroes to depart for the Midwest and Far West on one-way tickets.

George Singelmann, a director of the Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans, said five Negroes would leave by train Friday night for Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Singelmann did not identify them but said they failed to show up previously to take a "Freedom Bus" trip to New York.

Seven Negroes left Shreveport Friday for the Midwest with bus tickets and expense money supplied by the Louisiana Association of Citizens Councils.

Ned Touchstone, chairman of the association's "Freedom Bus North" committee said the group consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Harris, their two small children, and Frank Hill, all going to Chicago; Charles Gates, going to Kansas City; and James Love, who headed for Decatur, Ill.

Harris plans to send for other members of his family after he gets a job in Chicago, Touchstone said.

Reports Nasser Is Shot Denied

CAIRO (AP) — President Gam Abdel Nasser is sound and well, an informed source says, and spent Friday playing Tennis. Published reports that the United Arab Republic's chief executive was wounded by a gunshot last weekend in an assassination attempt were denounced as lies.

The informant said Nasser's tennis game was interrupted briefly as the reports were given to him but that he smiled and resumed the game.

"Such reports—like all other reports on the United Arab Republic by Radio Israel or pro-Israel newspaper—are baseless and devoid of truth," the informant said. The semiofficial Middle East News Agency also issued a denial.

The London Daily Telegraph printed an account Thursday of the rumored shooting, attributing the bulk of its information to Israel's government-controlled radio station, KOL Israel.

It said the Israeli radio on Monday "quoted strong reports of an assassination attempt, following this with strong reports that President Nasser had succumbed."

In Jerusalem, KOL Israel denied it originated the rumors. A spokesman said the station was not aware of reports that Nasser had been shot at until the Daily Telegraph published them.

Dutch Hurl Criticism At U.S. Policy

THENS (AP) — Dutch Foreign Minister Josef Luns Friday sharply criticized U.S. policy in the Netherlands-Indonesian dispute over Dutch-ruled West New Guinea, diplomatic sources said.

Luns took issue with various parts of the U.S. effort to reach a settlement of the dispute and asked for unified Western support of the Dutch position, the sources said.

Following Luns' speech at a North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial meeting, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave notice that he will speak on the subject Saturday.

The United States has been active in efforts to solve the territorial issue between the Dutch and Indonesia's President Sukarno.

Details of Luns' charges were not disclosed but it was reported the Dutch have been critical of what they consider U.S. vacillation.

This has included such publicized incidents as declining landing rights on U.S. soil for Dutch planes carrying troop reinforcements, to the big Pacific island.

The sources said Luns charged that Sukarno has not responded positively to Dutch offers to negotiate a settlement.

Britain Fires Charges Of Soviet Smear

GENEVA (AP)—Britain has accused the Soviet Union of trying to lure the 17-nation disarmament conference into an emotional sphere in order to prevent serious negotiations.

British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber charged Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin with distorting the British position and engaging in smear tactics.

The acrid exchange Friday highlighted the 31st plenary session of the conference, which has made no sustantial move for at least two weeks.

Godber took exception to Zorin's repeated remarks that Britain supported the American three-stage disarmament plan only because she was dependent on the United States.

"I want to make it clear that the United Kingdom is free to consider any proposal before the conference on its merits," Godber said. "This is an attempt to impugn the motives of the United Kingdom. Mr. Zorin's remarks are amounting to something close to a smear.

"For two weeks Mr. Zorin has been trying to draw the conference into an emotional sphere. These tactics have been adopted to draw the conference away from serious debate."

Car Production May Hit Peak During Month

DETROIT (UPI)—Production of 1962 model cars may hit its peak this month, Ward's Reports said Friday.

The statistical agency said 1962 model output will overtake the industry's 1961 model run of 5,408,500 before the end of May.

Ward's said that by the end of this week, more than 4,880,000 1962 cars will have been completed, equal to 90 per cent of the 1961 model total which ended the first week of August last year.

Car assembly in May is scheduled to top April figures of 616,945 and possibly become the peak months of 1962 model production, Ward's said.

Factory output this week will reach 147,521, a decline of 3.9 per cent from the year's peak session last week of 153,436 cars. This week's output will be 18.5 per cent above the 124,454 cars turned out a year ago.

This week's decline is attributed to changes in overtime operations by General Motors and Ford. The Chevrolet St. Louis plant will be the only GM factory assembling cars on Saturday.

Editorial Writer Perishes In Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forrest E. Davis, 68, Washington columnist and editorial writer for the Cincinnati Inquirer, died Friday in a fire at his apartment here.

Davis, a former editor of the Rocky Mountain News, Denver, Colo., was a regular contributor to the Saturday Evening Post. He was a former employe of the New York World Telegram.

He was born in Decatur, Ind., and started his newspaper career on the Lawrenceburgh, Ind., Register at the age of 14.

He was the author of several books, including "Huey Long, A Candid Biography" and "How War Came," which was coauthored by Ernest K. Lindley.

Davis' wife, Isabelle, died of cancer six months ago. Friends said a daughter, Rosemary, lives in New York.

Firemen said the fire may have started from a lighted cigarette. Death was attributed to suffocation.

Soraya's latest is Belgian Tennis player Philippe Washer. He's 37 and handsome and had a marvelous forehand a better backhand, and, naturally, this means a lot to a girl. Soraya and Phillippe seek out-of-the-way Paris places to hold hands and so forth. Someone should tell them the best way in the world to be discovered is to sneak into a small intimate French nightclub. Maybe they care . . . The not-so-happy ending: The very social Mrs. Harold Talbott's son, John, and the lovely Cinderella bride that he met in Kentucky while he was at an Army camp, have separated. After only a few months of marriage.

Jack Munroe, member of the social group that has Laddie and Mary Sanford as its axis, is completely gone on "Puddin'" Neal Dodge, the blits little blonde who has set herself up in some of Palm Beach's most imposing mansions. She can, too, with all that coffee maney and oil money and plain old money. The recently divorced "Puddin'" is what you call in this country "a catch." Just as her brother, Bobby Neal, is a "catch." He's 40, and in all his long playboy years, the girl he came closest to marrying was Diana Lynn. That includes Maggi Pierce, who ran around wearing his ring for a while . . . Pamela Curran, currently a TV actress and a New York glamor deb of 1948, gets a 3½ page spread in TV Guide.

The British royal family is keeping its collective ear attuned to the squawks of the Labor MPs who once a week take the floor of Commons to weep that their Royals are draining the Exchequer. Two weeks ago when Philip wanted a new sailing craft he got one. But he chose an assembly-line job costing $2,500. Ordinarily Philip's yacht would have been a specially designed custom-built craft costing 10 times that. And when Philip flies from now on it will be commercially. No more Royal jet-powered Herons. And no escort aircraft. It's getting so you can't be a prince in style anymore.

Vanessa Redgrave, the talented actress daughter of Sir Micheal Redgrave, and movie director Toney (The Entertainer") Richardson, really seem to mean it. Nobody's asked anybody to get married yet or anything like that. But if anybody did ask anybody their respective families would be very happy.

There's absolutely no place like home to James Russell Lowell, grandson of the late Howard C. Brokaw. Now that his grandfather's estate has become the Muttontown Golf and Country Club (mid - Long Island), James is thinking of renting his favorite rooms in the great Georgian mansion, "The Chimneys," from the new owners. Even though the 120 acres where he once romped is now dotted with sand-traps, tees and greens, it's still granddaddy's house to JRL. . .

Society enjoyed the De Pinna fashion show luncheon which was held May 3 at the St. Regis Roof. The luncheon was a tribute to the late Maria Luisa (Mrs. Angier Biddle) Duke who was killed in a plane crash last Summer. Proceeds went to a Maria Luisa Duke Memorial Chapel at Boys Harbor in Easthampton. Fashion expert Jo Hughes handled the project singlehandedly. Mrs. Henry R. Luck was honorary chairman and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman was chairman of patronesses, which includes almost every name that means anything in Manhattan society . . . Juliette Greco had a busy week. She was decorated by the French Minister of Culture for her dramatic acting. So she bought herself a Mercedes - Benz complete with chauffeur to celebrate. The French, who are that way, duly noted that the chauffeur is 33 and handsome. And that Juliette has unloaded her steady beau, Christian de la Maziere. Not that one has anything to do with the other. Of course.

AAA Safety Traffic Foundation President Clarence E. Bodie, of Honesdale, Pa., and Russell E. Singer, AAA executive vice president, will represent the association at the ceremony.

Book For JFK Enigma On TV

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Television viewers who watched the arrival of President John F. Kennedy here were puzzled when he was handed a book moments after he alighted from his plane.

The television announcer was unable to find out the title of the book or the name of the donor.

The man who handed the book to Kennedy was Jefferson Parish President M. Dan Hogan. The book was authored by Louisiana State University professor of history Jane Lucas deGrummond.

The title was, "The Barbarians and the Battle of New Orleans."

Titov Brags Soviet Steel Mills Bigger

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Soviet cosmonaut, Gherman S. Titov, hustled through America's biggest steel mill at Sparrows Point Friday but said, "It is well known our mills are bigger than these."

Titov, shaking hands and signing autographs with the aplomb of a politician, immediately softened his statement, however, by adding, "But you had better ask the experts."

Titov, his wife and a party of about 20 motored from Washington to Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Sparrows Point plant, about a dozen miles southeast of Baltimore, for the inspection tour. They ate lunch downtown with a minimum of fanfare, then headed back for Washington.

Titov appeared more interested in the workers—there are more than 30,000 of them at the huge plant—than in the steel mill itself. He peeled away from his tour on several occasions to chat with the workers, sign autographs, pass out picture postcards of himself or to give away small model space craft.

Titov, who orbited the earth 17 times in a space ship, arrived in the United States Sunday, visiting New York City and Washington, D.C., before coming to Baltimore Friday.

"Whoa, whoa, one minute," he said in English at one point in his Sparrows Point tour, as office workers crowded in for his autograph. "Only for the girls, only for the girls," he added in Russian.

The Titov party, traveling in limousines provided by the U.S. State Department, got lost in the outskirts of Baltimore en route from Washington to Sparrows Point.

An election board supervisor for Baltimore County, Tony Pawlikowski, finally volunteered to guide Titov and company. Pawlikowski's car was plastered with campaign signs saying "Tawes for Governor" and "Brewster for Senator." Maryland has a primary election May 15.

Titov finally picked up a police motorcycle escort for the trip from Sparrows Point to the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore, where he ate lunch. No city or state officials were invited.

A member of Titov's party said a few minutes later that Magnitogorsk "had a production rate of 8.5 million American tons."

Titov is scheduled to leave Washington Saturday, after a reception Friday night at the Soviet Embassy, to visit Century 21, the World's Fair being held in Seattle.

He is to leave for San Francisco Sunday night, returning to New York City May 9. He is to leave the United States May 11 or 12.

FORESEE METAL INCREASE

NEW YORK (UPI)—The metalworking production index should hit 113 by the end of April, according to the magazine American Machinist. The index began the year at 109 per cent of the 1957 average. Good business was reported in industrial fastenings, cutting tools, precision tools and gears and from job shops.

Dutch Hunt Indonesian Paratroops

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (UPI)—About 25 Indonesian paratroops have been dropped on the Dutch island of Fak Fak near the New Guinea coast and Dutch marines have been sent to hunt them down, it was announced Friday.

Rear Adm. Leendert Reeser, Dutch military commander in West New Guinea, announced the landings, the third "invasion" since Jan. 15. He said military patrols have engaged the Indonesians and that some have been killed and others captured.

"Prisoners stated that paratroopers had recently landed in the area and were hiding in the jungle," Reeser said.

Other reports said Indonesian air force planes were sighted at Soron in the so-called "bird's head" of northwest New Guinea.

Fak Fak is on the Bombarai peninsula in northwest New Guinea about 190 miles southwest of Manokwari and is a port on the Ceram Sea claimed by Indonesia as its own territorial waters.

Dutch forces have reported 173 Indonesians captured and more than 50 killed since the infiltrations began last January.

Dutch Hunt Indonesian Paratroops

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (UPI)—About 25 Indonesian paratroops have been dropped on the Dutch island of Fak Fak near the New Guinea coast and Dutch marines have been sent to hunt them down, it was announced Friday.

Rear Adm. Leendert Reeser, Dutch military commander in West New Guinea, announced the landings, the third "invasion" since Jan. 15. He said military patrols have engaged the Indonesians and that some have been killed and others captured.

"Prisoners stated that paratroopers had recently landed in the area and were hiding in the jungle," Reeser said.

Other reports said Indonesian air force planes were sighted at Soron in the so-called "bird's head" of northwest New Guinea.

Fak Fak is on the Bombarai peninsula in northwest New Guinea about 190 miles southwest of Manokwari and is a port on the Ceram Sea claimed by Indonesia as its own territorial waters.

The Indonesians have carried out landings on the south coast near Aimana and on the islands of Waiegeo and Gag northwest of New Guinea.

Dutch forces have reported 173 Indonesians captured and more than 50 killed since the infiltrations began last January.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

John Bankhead Margruder had delighted in amateur theatricals when he was a garrison officer in the "Old Army" before the Civil War.

With his play acting he combined the qaulities of a good host —he set a good table and he knew his wines. All this won him the title of "Prince John."

But he never put on an amateur show which matched the professional act he staged at Yorktown, Va., in April and the early part of May 1862.

This was "Prince John's" day in the sun and his acting was so good that it brought from one of the better critics on the scene—Confederate Gen. Joseph E. Johnston — the "rave review" that "this judicious course saved Richmond." Testy old General Johnston, Margruder's commander, was not one to bestow so generous an accolade lightly.

Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan had landed about 100,000 Union troops at Fort Monroe, Va., by the first days of April. The peninsula lay ahead, a narrow neck of land with Richmond, Va., the Confederate capital, about 75 airline miles away and Richmond was the goal the North was clamoring to be taken.

McClellan started his army up the peninsula on April 4. The first target was Yorktown, Va., on the York River where it flows into Chesapeake Bay.

The Army of the Potomac came to a dead halt the first day when it ran into a 10-mile long entrenched line running across the peninsula nearly to the James River on the left.

To McClellan, it appeared to be a formidable line. Big guns poked their noses from it at frequent intervals. Much activity behind the lines could be ovserved from the ground and verified from an observation balloon.

Obviously here was a situation calling for siege, bombardment and then a grand assault when the line was breached.

McClellan promptly telegraphed Washington for heavier artillery and more troops. His intelligence, which came from Detective Allan Pinkerton, was that 50,000 Confederates manned the line.

President Lincoln, skeptical, ordered the guns and troops sent but on April 6 he wired McClellan that "I think you better break the enemy line from Yorktown to the Warwick River at once."

McClellan ignored the telegram and went about preparing for the seige.

Magruder, a major general now staged his best production. He kept marching his men around where they could be observed by the Union forces and counted many times. Bugles blew up and down the line, indicating closely positioned forces. Campfires dotted the landscape. Magruder gave the impression that he confidently awaited attack. "Little Mac" believed it.

Actually, at the start Margruder had about 15,000 men—not the 50,000 McClellan gave him credit for. Most of the "guns" that awed the Federals were "Quaker guns" —peeled logs painted black, the same kind Johnston had used at Manassas to fool McClellan before.

Magruder's tricks worked all through April while Johnston hurried troops into the peninsula. Civil War history contains no account in which so few bamboozled so many with so little.

Early in May, McClellan decided he was ready to reduce the line with his new big guns.

But on the night of May 3-4 Johnston quietly abandoned the Yorktown line and started his army northwest toward Richmond.

McClellan then "took" Yorktown without a fight and called it a "glorious victory." He sent his cavalry in pursuit. They caught up with the Rebels outside Williamsburg, one-time capital of Virginia where Thomas Jefferson went to school at William and Mary College and served in the House of Burgesses with George Washington and Patrick Henry — the same Williamsburg which now had been restored to its 18th century glory.

The armies fought the battle of Williamsburg on May 5-6, 1862 as a sort of curtain raiser to the maneuvers which would be called the Peninsular Campaign.

The battle, fought as a delaying action by the Confederates while their army made its way up the peninsula, hinged on an engagement on the Federal right where Brig. Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock commanded. It was his first combat of the Civil War as well as the first for many of his men. There was a gap between his troops and other Union forces. Seeing the gap, the Confederates under Maj. Gen. James Longstreet and Maj. Gen. D. H. Hill attacked.

". . . on the Confederates came, and a fine picture of a charge they made. They were at the double quick, and were coming over a ploughed field, diagonally across our front. . . They could not see us as we lay flat on the ground. From my place on the left of the regiment, I saw General Hancock galloping toward us, bareheaded, alone, a magnificent figure; and with a voice hoarse with shouting he gave us the order, 'Forward, Charge!' The papers had it that he said, 'Charge, gentlement, charge,' but he was more emphatic than that; the air was blue all around him.

"Well, we started and the long line of sabre bayonets came down together as if one man swayed them as we crossed the crest, and with a roar of cheers the 7th Maine dashed on . . . the foe, breathless from their long tug over the heavy ground, seemed to disolve all at once into a quivering and disintegrating mass, and to scatter in all directions. Upon this we halted and opened fire, and the view of it through the smoke was pitiful. They were falling everywhere; white handkerchiefs were held up in token of surrender . . . We gathered in some 300 prisoners before dark. Then the rain came, though there is nothing especailly remarkable about that, for it was always coming down. . ."

McClellan came by and complimented Hancock's troops and telegraphed Washington that "Hancock was superb." From then on this "tall, soldierly man with light brown hair and a heavy military jaw . . . who always has a clean white shirt . . ." was "Hancock the Superb."

The Confederate rear guard, having delayed the Union army long enough for Johnston to move his army and trains out of danger, withdrew.

"Little Mac" now wheeled his army into line and started up the peninsula toward Richmond on "sandy, year-around" roads his intelligence officers had reported but which by now were hub deep in sticky mud.

Appomattox Court House National Monument, marking the site where Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered the Confederate Army of Northern Virginia to Lt. Gen. U.S. Grant on April 9, 1865, comprises 968 acres administered by the National Park Service. It includes the rebuilt house of Wilmer McLean, inw which the surrender took place, and the final positions of the opposing armies.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

ACCIDENTAL IRON POISONING

Iron poisoning occurs rather frequently in young children when they swallow too many pills or capsules containing this mineral. A handful of tablets will make them violently ill and fatalaties have been reported. Iron irritates the gastroinal tract and the ensuing damage being on vomiting and diarrhea; some develop shock pallor, and coma.

Adults are able to tolerate larger amounts of iron but individual variations occurs. Some men and women get diarrhea after consuming one or two tablets a day. If they need iron for anemia, they must try different products to find the least irritating type. A few anemic persons are forced to take the longer cure by concentrating on foods rich in iron.

Many parents do not regard iron pills as poisonous and foolishly place a bottle on the kitchen shelf or in a medicine cabinet or bedroom drawer. Carelessness along this line is demonstrated by several recorded instances of accidental poisoning in the records of the poison control center of the New York City department of health.

In one instance, the father had been painting the medicine cabinet in the bathroom and put the medications, including a box of iron pills, in the bedroom. His 22 month old boy swallowed four pills, thinking they were candy.

The tyke became nauseated, vomited, and was taken to the hospital where his stomach was washed out. Shortly therafter he developed diarrhea and became stuporous. He was given fluids by vein and recovered within four days.

A 2 year old boy swallowed 32 tablets he had removed from his grandmother's purse. The child vomited, became drowsy, and was rushed to the hospital where he was treated heroically for three weeks until completely recovered. The physicians resorted to exchange transfusions to eliminuate the excess iron in the child's blood.

These few examples demonstrate that iron can be poisonous even tho it is regarded as a health providing chemical. Warning labels are now placed on the containers to caution the user.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

ACHING NECK

Mrs. J. S. writes: I'm 28 years old, strong and healthy, calm and happy, but have aching in the back of the neck. What could be the reason?

REPLY

Muscular rheumatism, strain, slipped disk, arthritis, or tension. Pain also may stem from a previous neck injury. A simple set of exercises often helps and we will send a leaflet on the subject if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

SHINY LEG

Mrs. R. writes: Why is my right leg from knee to ankle smooth and shiny? The leg is not swollen or painful and the left leg doesn't have this shininess.

REPLY

Shininess ususally is of mechanical origin as from rubbing due to dryness. Occasionally, one sided dryness stems from a circulatory or nerve disorder.

SORE TRACHEA

L. D. writes: Please tell me something adout tracheitis.

REPLY

Inflammation of the windpipe (trachea) is a condition halfway between sore thorat and bronchitis. The most common sympton is a dry, hacking cough. It is aggravated by taking a deep breath, smoking talking, or laughing.

TENSION AND ULCER

C. W. writes: Could aggravation cause obstruction in a person with duodenal ulcer?

REPLY

Yes, if it keeps the ulcer brewing so that the exit of the stomach is obstructed temporarily by spasm. Or the valve may be closed permanently by scar tissue.

The tyke became nauseated, vomited, and was taken to the hospital where his stomach was washed out. Shortly therafter he developed diarrhea and became stuporous. He was given fluids by vein and recovered within four days.

A 2 year old boy swallowed 32 tablets he had removed from his grandmother's purse. The child vomited, became drowsy, and was rushed to the hospital where he was treated heroically for three weeks until completely recovered. The physicians resorted to exchange transfusions to eliminuate the excess iron in the child's blood.

These few examples demonstrate that iron can be poisonous even tho it is regarded as a health providing chemical. Warning labels are now placed on the containers to caution the user.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

ACHING NECK

Mrs. J. S. writes: I'm 28 years old, strong and healthy, calm and happy, but have aching in the back of the neck. What could be the reason?

REPLY

Muscular rheumatism, strain, slipped disk, arthritis, or tension. Pain also may stem from a previous neck injury. A simple set of exercises often helps and we will send a leaflet on the subject if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

SHINY LEG

Mrs. R. writes: Why is my right leg from knee to ankle smooth and shiny? The leg is not swollen or painful and the left leg doesn't have this shininess.

REPLY

Shininess ususally is of mechanical origin as from rubbing due to dryness. Occasionally, one sided dryness stems from a circulatory or nerve disorder.

SORE TRACHEA

L. D. writes: Please tell me something adout tracheitis.

REPLY

Inflammation of the windpipe (trachea) is a condition halfway between sore thorat and bronchitis. The most common sympton is a dry, hacking cough. It is aggravated by taking a deep breath, smoking talking, or laughing.

TENSION AND ULCER

C. W. writes: Could aggravation cause obstruction in a person with duodenal ulcer?

REPLY

Yes, if it keeps the ulcer brewing so that the exit of the stomach is obstructed temporarily by spasm. Or the valve may be closed permanently by scar tissue.

Texans' Tanks Beating 'Enemy' In Iron Dragoon

As the fourth day ended in the maneuvers, largest in the nation during the current fiscal year, the front of the 49th Division touched the southeast corner of the strategic Peason artillery range.

The 49th, a key participant in the giant war games, was expected to open an all-out effort Saturday to seize control of the artillery range.

The war game, which involves about 20,000 troops maneuvering in about 1,300 square miles, will end May 16.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Theft Charges Against Three Men Withdrawn

OAK GROVE (Special) — Burglary and theft charges were dropped against three men in a preliminary hearing in district court here Friday.

Charges against T. T. (Tuney) Planton, Ellis Collingsworth and Otis McCrory, who had been charged in connection with thefts and burglaries at firms in the parish, were withdrawn.

Authorities said the charges were dropped due to lack of evidence. Planton and McCrory are wanted by authorities at Napoleonville.

Victims of the burglaries and thefts were Calhoun Grocery at Chickasaw, Major's Store at Kilbourne and Beebe's Store at Goodwill, all in the month of December.

Approximately $800 was taken from the firms. The suspects had been under $15,000 bond each.

Texans' Tanks Beating 'Enemy' In Iron Dragoon

FT. POLK, La. (AP) — The 49th Armored Division from Texas penetrated aggressor forces Friday and established a front about 10 miles deeper during Exercise Iron Dragoon.

As the fourth day ended in the maneuvers, largest in the nation during the current fiscal year, the front of the 49th Division touched the southeast corner of the strategic Peason artillery range.

The 49th, a key participant in the giant war games, was expected to open an all-out effort Saturday to seize control of the artillery range.

Field hospitals began to swell with simulated casualties and more prisoners were taken and questioned by interrogation crews.

The war game, which involves about 20,000 troops maneuvering in about 1,300 square miles, will end May 16.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Theft Charges Against Three Men Withdrawn

OAK GROVE (Special) — Burglary and theft charges were dropped against three men in a preliminary hearing in district court here Friday.

Charges against T. T. (Tuney) Planton, Ellis Collingsworth and Otis McCrory, who had been charged in connection with thefts and burglaries at firms in the parish, were withdrawn.

Authorities said the charges were dropped due to lack of evidence. Planton and McCrory are wanted by authorities at Napoleonville.

Victims of the burglaries and thefts were Calhoun Grocery at Chickasaw, Major's Store at Kilbourne and Beebe's Store at Goodwill, all in the month of December.

Approximately $800 was taken from the firms. The suspects had been under $15,000 bond each.

ENDS DIVORCE ACTION

Jayne Mansfield In Reconciliation

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jayne Mansfield and her strongman husband Mickey Hargitay reconciled Friday, less than 24 hours after the blonde actress filed an "April Fool's Joke" divorce action.

The speedy reconciliation probably set a course record for movieland marital breakups and makeups. A battle over taking their children with them to Europe precipitated the divorce suit, said Jayne.

"It's like an April Fool's Joke", said Hargitay when informed of the action by United Press International.

But all was peaceful at the Mansfield mansion on Sunset Boulevard Friday as Jayne and Mickey hosted reporters at a poolside press conference. The questions of reporters blended in with the barking of Jayne's kennel of assorted dogs and the owls of a pet ocelot.

The atmosphere was romantic. Reporters looked into the bottom of the swimming pool and saw a permanent tile heart on which is inscribed "I love you Jaynie."

"We have resolved our differences," said a triumphant Jayne. "I will withdraw our divorce suit as soon as I get around to it."

Jayne won the battle which precipitated the divorce action. Mickey had objected to taking their two children, Miklos, Jr., and Zoltan, 2, with them to Europe where she appears in a movie. Jayne insisted that they accompany them.

Laos Reports Chinese Forces Capture Town

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—The official Royal Laotian army spokesman said Friday Chinese Communist soldiers and not Laotian rebels captured the strategic town of Muong Sing, site of the late jungle doctor Tom Dooley's hospital, Thursday.

Muong Sing is only seven miles from the Chinese border in northwest Laos. Western military sources said they had no confirmation of reports Chinese were involved but said it was taken "from the north" by troops which quickly overran the one-company garrison.

The government spokesman said two battalions of Red China's 43rd Division based in Yunnan Province just across the border captured Muong Sing and turned it over to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels. The Chinese then returned home, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the Pathet Lao troops which occupied the town shot down a Laotian Royal Air Force DC3 transport which tried to land there without knowing the town had fallen.

8 Certificates Issued In Area

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Certificates have been issued to eight women who completed a state sponsored nursing school here.

Certificates went to Mrs. Mary Frith, Mrs. Doris McMullen, Mrs. Nellwyn Sandifer, Mrs. Edith Shelton, Mrs. Josephine Stampley. Mrs. Edith Walters of Monroe was the instructor.

ENDS DIVORCE ACTION

Jayne Mansfield In Reconciliation

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jayne Mansfield and her strongman husband Mickey Hargitay reconciled Friday, less than 24 hours after the blonde actress filed an "April Fool's Joke" divorce action.

The speedy reconciliation probably set a course record for movie land marital breakups and makeups. A battle over taking their children with them to Europe precipitated the divorce suit, said Jayne.

The couple were hand-in-hand when they greeted newsmen and Hargitay gave his wife a kiss for photographers.

Hargitay was stunned Thursday when the 28-year-old Jayne charged him with extreme mental cruelty and grievous mental suffering.

"It's like an April Fool's Joke", said Hargitay when informed of the action by United Press International.

But all was peaceful at the Mansfield mansion on Sunset Boulevard Friday as Jayne and Mickey hosted reporters at a poolside press conference. The questions of reporters blended in with the barking of Jayne's kennel of assorted dogs and the owls of a pet ocelot.

The atmosphere was romantic. Reporters looked into the bottom of the swimming pool and saw a permanent tile heart on which is inscribed "I love you Jaynie."

"We have resolved our differences," said a triumphant Jayne. "I will withdraw our divorce suit as soon as I get around to it."

Jayne won the battle which precipitated the divorce action. Mickey had objected to taking their two children, Miklos, Jr., and Zoltan, 2, with them to Europe where she appears in a movie. Jayne insisted that they accompany them.

Laos Reports Chinese Forces Capture Town

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—The official Royal Laotian army spokesman said Friday Chinese Communist soldiers and not Laotian rebels captured the strategic town of Muong Sing, site of the late jungle doctor Tom Dooley's hospital, Thursday.

Muong Sing is only seven miles from the Chinese border in northwest Laos. Western military sources said they had no confirmation of reports Chinese were involved but said it was taken "from the north" by troops which quickly overran the one-company garrison.

The government spokesman said two battalions of Red China's 43rd Division based in Yunnan Province just across the border captured Muong Sing and turned it over to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels. The Chinese then returned home, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the Pathet Lao troops which occupied the town shot down a Laotian Royal Air Force DC3 transport which tried to land there without knowing the town had fallen.

SALESMEN WANTED!
Experience Unnecessary
DUE TO THE rapid growth and expansion of our organization we must hire another salesman!
THE MAN we are looking for must have a pleasing personality, he must be neat, he must be at least 24 years of age, he should have a good education, (Of course, we realize that education isn't everything but of our present sales force of 7 men, 3 are college graduates, 2 have 3 years of college, 1 man has 2 years of college and the other has 1 year of college, so you can see why we feel that we have an above average sales force.), but most of all, he must be ambitious—he wants to get started right now on a bigger job and a bigger paycheck.
EVEN if he's had no experience at all in the automotive sales field, we will be glad to train him and he will make good money while he's in training!
WE FEEL that our offer is as good if not better than any other type of sales work! Our compensation plan is one of the best to be found anywhere and working conditions are excellent.
IF YOU think that you can qualify for this job, stop in today and ask for Mr. Tubbs at Northeast Motors N. 3rd & Breard

SALESMEN wanted for Modern Homes Const. Co. Must own automobile, 21 years or over. Experience not necessary. Opportunity FOR Advancement. Apply in person. Call FA 2-1601 between 8 A.M. and 5 P.M. for appointment.

SALESMEN WANTED!
Experience Unnecessary
DUE TO THE rapid growth and expansion of our organization we must hire another salesman!
THE MAN we are looking for must have a pleasing personality, he must be neat, he must be at least 24 years of age, he should have a good education, (Of course, we realize that education isn't everything but of our present sales force of 7 men, 3 are college graduates, 2 have 3 years of college, 1 man has 2 years of college and the other has 1 year of college, so you can see why we feel that we have an above average sales force.), but most of all, he must be ambitious—he wants to get started right now on a bigger job and a bigger paycheck.
EVEN if he's had no experience at all in the automotive sales field, we will be glad to train him and he will make good money while he's in training!
WE FEEL that our offer is as good if not better than any other type of sales work! Our compensation plan is one of the best to be found anywhere and working conditions are excellent.
IF YOU think that you can qualify for this job, stop in today and ask for Mr. Tubbs at Northeast Motors N. 3rd & Breard.

SALESMEN wanted for Modern Homes Const. Co. Must own automobile, 21 years or over. Experience not necessary. Opportunity FOR Advancement. Apply in person. Call FA 2-1601 between 8 A.M. and 5 P.M. for appointment.

Texas Voters To Ballot In Bristling Governor Primary Election Saturday

By JACK BELL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Six Democratic candidates for governor pounded down the home stretch Friday night in a bristling primary race studded with political portents for the Kennedy administration.

A million and a half Texans voting Saturday are expected to promote a horse race between Gov. Price Daniel and John B. Connally for the Democratic nomination, while registering disapproval of legalizing race track betting.

Clear to cloudy weather with some showers was in prospect in this sprawling state. Polls open from 6 to 8 a.m., CST. All polls close at 7 p.m.

In a state noted for its upsets, Daniel, seeking an unprecedented fourth term, and Connally, former secretary of the Navy under President Kennedy, are political poll favorites to land in a June 2 run-off primary. But the polls showed about 30 per cent of the voters undecided.

Ordinarily this second time around next month would be enough to settle the issue of who will be inaugurated as the state's next governor in January. But resurgent Republicans have some hopes of scoring an upset of their own in the Nov. 6 general election.

In the sixth GOP statewide primary since the first governor was elected in 1845, oilman Jack Cox of Breckenridge, a former Democrat, and Amarillo attorney and Borger publisher Roy Whittenburg are seeking their party's nomination for governor.

Just about every issue that could be raised, from the Billie Sol Estes fraud case to alleged Kennedy administration interference in what Texans regard as running their own state affairs, and the fourth term has been poured into the pot in this bitterly fought primary.

Some of the candidates seeking nominations in the 22 districts and one at-large contests for national House seats have made their conservatism an issue. It also is a factor in the governor's race.

A spokesman for the liberal Americans for Democratic Action has charged that the New Frontier is backing Connally, termed by the spokesman an anti-New Frontiersman.

Red-haired Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and usually jolly Marshall Fromby, former state highway commissioner, have borne down on the contention that Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson—with the acquiescence of Kennedy himself—sent Connally back to the state to keep its Democratic machinery in administration hands.

Johnson says it isn't so—that most of the leading candidates are political friends of his and that he hasn't lifted a hand.

Connally, who managed Johnson's unsuccessful bid for the party's 1960 presidential nomination, said the decision to run was his own.

Johnson's interest in keeping his hand in Texas obviously stems from his hardly concealed desire to become available for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968.

Wilson has made some headlines in his state investigation of Billie Sol Estes' high-flying dealings with the Kennedy administration's Department of Agriculture. Surface signs indicate, however, this matter has failed to take hold among any substantial number of state voters.
